the Ohio Democrats to Redistrict the State on a Just Basis - Senator Blair Still Has the Floor - Washington Gossip.

WASHINGTON, February 18 .- [Special.]-The news of the arrest of seventeen citizens of Sharon, charged with conspiracy and intimi-dation against Postmaster Duckworth, caused siderable comment among the southern mambers here today.

As soon as Representative Barnes heard of it, he went to see Attorney-General Miller, it he went to see Attorney-General Miles, and asked an explanation.

The attorney-general replied that he had ordered the arrest on charges based upon repre-centations made to the department that there was interference with a United States officer in the discharge of his duty. Further than this, he refused to say anything until he had heard the result of the examination. He, however, made an attempt to branch off into a discussion of the race problem and the feeling of the people of the south towards the administration. Mr. Barnes, however, refused to humor him. Mr. Barnes is quite angry. He thinks the action of Mr. Miller totally un-justifiable, and believes it to be an effort on the part of the republican administration to create the impression in the north that a republican is not safe among southern people. He further believes it is an attempt to manufacreign material, and believes Carpet-uck is at the bottom of the entire busin It was an outrage, he said, to send a body of armed men to Sharon for the purpose of creating the impression that it was a lawless community, when one unarmed marshal could have gone there and arrested all the parties without trouble. "So far as I can see they have committed no offense. I believe that fellow Buck is at the bottom of the whole business. The release of the parties on bond this evening, I believe, will they have made all the political material out of At that it is possible for them to make."

It is the universal opinion here among Georgians that Buck advised the arrest through Wanamaker.

The news that the democrats of the Ohio legislature in caucus today, decided to redistrict the state in such a manner as to give the democrats fifteen out of the twenty-one congressional districts, fell like a bomb-shell into the ranks of the republicans here. The Ohio men, particularly, are in a wild state of excite-ment. Indeed, it has made them more deter-mined than ever to pass the Wickham bill, and an attempt will be made to rush it through at once. Then the contest will be between the republican administration of the government and the democratic administration of the state of Ohio. Fifteen democratic congressmen from Ohio will make the next house democratic by a good majority, even though the republicans carry as many districts in other states as they did in the last election.

BLAIR'S LONG SPEECH.
Senator Blair wins the cake as the longestwinded speaker in America. He spoke on his educational bill again today. It was his sixth day, and he has not yet concluded. It was, in-deed, a pitiable sight to look upon the senate during his speech this afternoon. There were two senators besides the speaker on the floor. Both were busily engaged in writing. The galleries were empty, and the presiding officer was nodding in the chair. The old "grandma" had only one listener, the official stenographer. He has already passed Senator Morgan's record of thirty-six hours on the fisheries treaty, and there are grave fears that the old fellow will go on for a month or two, if a haltis not called upon. He has succeeded in disgusting about half of the senate with his bill, and its opponents are becomin ore confident of defeating the measure daily. Indeed, they feel now that they have forty-four votes against it, and if all the opponents are on hand when the vote is taken, it will be defeated. RANDOLPH RIDGELEY RESIGNS. Randolph Ridgeley, of Burke county, re-cently appointed a cadet at Annapolis, has re-

THE INDIAN'S RIGHTS.

The Oklahoma Government Bill Causes Some Discussion. WASHINGTON, February 18.—There was no objection from the minority side of the house this marning to the approval of the journal o yesterday's proceedings.

The speaker laid before the house a message from the president transmitting, without com-ment, a communication from the interior department, proposing an amendment of the act providing for allotments of lands in severalty to Indians.

THE OKLAHOMA BILL. The bill was discussed until 1:30 o'clock when, without action the committee rose and the house proceeded to consider the special order, being the bill to provide a temporary government for Oklahoma. Pending that Mr. Perkins asked considers tion for the senate bill for the relief of the Sioux Indians at Devil's Lake agency, North Dakota, but Mr. McMillin, jof Tennessee, objected, and the house went into committee of the whole on the Oklahoma bill. The general debate was limited to three and a half hours, despite the appeal of Mr. Barnes, of Georgia, and others for five hours time, and in retaliation for the enforced limitation they called for the reading of the original senate bill and the house substitute, altogether fifty-nine printed pages. One hour and twenty minutes were consumed in the reading and it was after 3 o'clock before Mr. Struble, of Iowa, to keep the senate bill because it failed to include the senate bill because it failed to include all of the Creek and Seminole lands pure cased under the last administration. tion for the senate bill for the relief of the c de all of the Creek and Seminole lands pur-c ased under the last administration.

Mr. Barnes, of Georgia, advocated the sen-de bill in preference to the house substitute.

The senate bill proposed to organize a territory out of United States lands; the house bill pro-posed to include lands to which the United States did not now but might hereafter hold a title. The senate bill included 1,880,000 acres purchased in 1888 and No Man's Land. The house substitute included, in additional of purchased in 1888 and No Man's Land. The house substitute included, in addition, all of the Indian territory not occupled by the five tribes. No government ought to establish a government over land to which it did not hold a perfect title. By solemn obligation, by treaty, the land excepted from the senate bill had been given to Indians for all time. To erret a superstructure of government or more a basis, would be to build on the sand without a foundation.

The committee rose before the debate had concluded.

concluded. Mr. Dunnell, of Minnesota, presented the conference report on the bill directing the superintendent of the census to collect statistics of farm mortgages and indebtedness.

As a result of the conference, the senate accepted the house amendment. The repert was accepted, and the house, at 5:10, adjourned.

HERE'S BLAIR AGAIN.

He Takes Up Most of the Time in the WASHINGTON, February 18.—At the close of morning business the senate, at 12:50, on motion of Mr. Sherman, proceeded to the consideration of executive business.

The doors were reopened at half past three basiness.

MR. BLAIR SPEAKS AGAIN.

The educational bill came up as unfinished business and Mr. Blair proceeded with his opening. Having read some extracts from the report of Mr. Dawson, former commissioner of education, he said he would like to call atteneducation, he said he would like to call attention to those extracts, particularly the attention of the burean of mendacity in the office of the New York Evening Post, which furpished material for many of the falsehoods with which the bill was assailed throughout the country by newspapers generally. Incidentally to an extract which he had read from a letter of Robert D. Winthrop, of Massachusetts, Mr. Biair remarked that the bill had not originated the fact that there was a surplus in the treas-read from a letter of Robert D. Winthrop, of Massachusetts, Mr. Blair remarked that the bill had not originated the fact that there was a surplus in the treasury. It had originated before there was a surplus, and it would continue to be pressed, whether there was a surplus, or whether it would be necessary to obtain funds by additional taxation, by the issue of bonds, or in some other way. But the fact that there was a full treasury, left congress without the slightest excuse in the matter. Among the extracts which he read was one from a recent report of the school superintendent of the state of Texas to the effect that in many counties of that state the value of the county jail was greater than that of all school property in that county. He repeated that statement with emphasises and asked the special attention of the senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Dawes) to it. He did not suppose that any notice of that remarkable statement would appear in the newspapers. One would suppose, he said, that the press was under bonds to keep the people in ignorance of such facts as he had been bringing before the senate. He ventured to say that, of all which he had laid before the senate as to these terrible facts, indicative of approaching ruin, the false pross of this land had not circulated to the people to the amount of half a column. That faithlessness on the part of the American press indicated corruption and danger of the deepest dye to the people of the country. He believed that the press was in league—a corrupt league—a league to prevent the spread of the facts which ha laid before the senate, and he was not wholly, he declared, without evidence to justify his belief. There were agencies in this country at the bottom of that fell and infernal work.

At 5 o'clock Mr. Cullom suggested that it was about time for adjournment, but Mr. Blair replied, playfully, that he had a good deal of matter still to lay before the senate, and which the senators should be anxious to hear. He also inquired whether the presiding officer woul on the bill to require the superintendent of census to ascertain the number of people, who own their farms and homes and the amount of mortgage indebtedness there on, made a report recommending that the house amendment be agreed to.

The Pension Appropriation Bill. The Pension Appropriation Bill.

Washington, February 18.—The pension appropriation bill for the next fiscal year was reported today from the cammittee on appropriations. It carries with it $68,472,461, being $59,791 less than the estimates and $16,668,761 more than the bill for the current fiscal year, though there is an estimated deficiency of $21,598,634 in the pension expenditures for this year; so that the bill is really $4,930,073 less than expenditures will be this year.

WILL CLOSE ALL THE FACTORIES

WOBURN, Mass., February 18.—The members of the Manufacturers' association, at meeting last night, voted to close every leather factory represented in the association tomorrow, and to keep them closed until the men return to work at the factory of Beggs & Cobb. This means an enforced idleness of 1,500 men as a result of the recently adopted price list. Most of the men went to work under protest in many of the shops, while in some factories the men decided not to do as much work for the pay provided for by the as much work for the pay provided for by the list as they were formerly required to do, claiming that that was the only resort left. This was particularly the case in the shops of E. L. Shaw & Co., and Beggs & Cobb.—In the former this matter was amicably adjusted during the past week, and the men have been returnthe past week, and the men have been returning as fast as work was ready for them. At Beggs & Cobb's, however, the men still remain out and will not return to work. The manufacturers, it is elaimed, have all adopted and are now paying the price list of the arbitrators and are living strictly up to the letter of the decision of the board, which was practically an increase in wages over what the men formerly obtained of about 5½ per cent. They claim, however, that the men are not doing as they agreed to do, and that they have repeatedly violated the agreement.

Berlin, February 18.—Opposition papers are making a great noise against the official pressure in elections, as exemplified by what General DeVerdy Du Vernois said to the Spandau workmen who waited upon him Saturday last. He promised them that the government would spend thirteen million marks in the erection of improved dwellings for the workingmen, and warned them at the same time not to vote for the opposition candidate.

THE EXTRADITION TREATY RATIFIED

The Senate Ratifies the Treaty With England and It Is Now in Force-Amendments

WASHINGTON, February 18.—The senate has ratified the British extradition treaty, with unimportant amendments. The treaty unimportant amendments. The treaty makes the following crimes extraditable, in addition to those specified in 1842:

1. Manslaughter.

2. Counterfeiting, or altering money or putting the same in circulation.

3. Embezzlement, larceny, obtaining money or goods under false pretenses, or receiving the same, knowing them to have been wrongfully obtained.

4. Fraud by baillee, banker agent, factor, true tained.

4. Fraud by baillee, banker agent, factor, trustee, director, member or officer of any company, made criminal by the laws of both countries.

5. Perjury or subornation of perjury.

6. Rape, abduction, child stealing, kidnapping.

7. Burglary.

8. Piracy by law of nations.

9. Mutiny at sea, wrongfully sinking or destroying a vessel, or attempting to do so; assaults on the high seas.

10. Crimes and offenses against the laws of both countries for the suppression of slavery and slave trading.

Extradition is not to be had for political offenses, nor shall any person, surrendered by either party, be tried for any other offense than the one for which he was extradited. The treaty shall not apply to any crimes committed before its ratification.

The discussion lasted two hours, and two changes of importance were adopted by the senate. The word "voluntary" was inserted before manslaughter, thus limiting the degree of that crime, which is made extraditable. The paragraph relating to the crime of obtaining money or goods under false pretenses was substantially modified, if not stricken out. These changes in the treaty are said to have met the approval of the democratic senators, and the vote in its favor is understood to have been practically unanimous.

COONEY CAPTURED.

'The Fox" Run Down in Hancock

Michigan.
CHICAGO, February 18.—A morning paper Says that Patrick Cooney, "the Fox." was cap-tured last night at Hancock, Michigan, and Officer John C. Collins, who has known him for years, will return with him today. Cooney left the city the day that Dr. Cronin's remains were laid away in Calvary, and has eluded the police ever since. Another paper says that from the quiet proceedings around police headquarters between 10 and 12 o'clock last night, the conclusion was reached that Patrick Cooney, the man who is so badly wanted as one of Dr. Cronin's murderers, had at last been captured. All the police officials on duty re-tained stolid silence, and no admissions could be gained from them. The basis for the story comes from a dispatch received by Chief Marsh. It was received at police headquar-ters and sent to the chief. It read:

One of the burned buildings was occupied by a family named Jackson. Most of the inmates of all the houses were awakened out of beds and rescued by the firemen, but Mrs. Jackson's sister, who only came yesterday on a visit, was forgotten in the excitement, and when the firemen discovered her at a window, her room was ablaze. They brought her out quickly, but she was dead. A Young Lady Burned to Death.

and a great many people are bothering their brains about lots and houses. "Where can I get a lot for a reasonable price?" is a question hundreds are asking themselves. They read the real estate advertisements till they are confused and see figures that seem reasonable, but when they look at the property it is a different matter. The lots at a reasonable price are in a bad location, in a hollow, too close to a sewer, or have some others.

Irollow, too close to a sewer, or have some other drawback.

The orinciple thing for a man to do is to make up his mind to pay what a good lot will cost. The difference between a good and a bad lot is well worth paying for. Get a good lot in a good neighborhood about Atlanta and you will not regret paying the difference between that and an inferior one. Eligible lots are more salable at the higher price than the undeservable once at the lower price. Very often fifteen or twenty per cent difference in the price will give you a hundred per cent more satisfaction.

lower price. Very often fifteen or twenty per cent difference in the price will give you a hundred per cent more satisfaction.

"But what can I get a lot for?" says some one who is getting impatient. You can get a very good lot for $1,000 in a respectable neighborhood, but not on a fashionable street. It will be somewhere near the city limits. In a more modest neighborhood, where there are cottages and nothing more, pretentions you may get a lot for $700 or $800. Most of these are about 50x150 feet. Lots of this character you can get in the neighborhood of the technological school, a few on the south side near the city limits, some in the extreme northwestern part of the city, some near Grant park and some in West End. By paying $1,200 to $1,500 you can get a lot of the same size on the south side at the farther end of Washington, Pryor or Capitol avenue, or on South Boulevard. At about the same price you can get beautiful lots in West End, where "Tommy Edison" will soon be superseded by a much better and quicker transportation. There is a world of country at about the same prices to the north of Edgewood on, or near the electric car line. Here and there you can find a lot for a little less in the most attractive suburbs.

If you want to go a half a mile beyond the city limits on the east side, you may get an acre for four or five hundred dollars and be within a short distance of projected dummy lines.

Of course, these prices will not get you a within a short distance of projected dummy lines.

Of course, these prices will not get you a lot on Capitol avenue or Washington street near in. You would have to pay higher on the Bouievard which promises to be another Peachtree, but you can occasionally get a lot for $1,500 on Jackson street or Highland avenue, while very handsome ones may be had on Forest avenue for $1,500, and a few under that.

North of Forest avenue on Pine and Merritts avenue far out, there are some good sites at $1,000 to $1,500, and there are some very pretty lots on Spring street for $30 a foot. For the same price you get beautiful lots east of Peachtree near the city limits, and for $40 you get some of the best sites on the Beulevard and something like that will locate you at Inman park.

Heretofore little has been done on the west

Heretofore little has been done on the west side of the Western and Atlantic railroad, but in a few days two hundred lots will be put on the market on the north side of West Simpson, near Mr.

lots will be put on the market on the north side of West Simpson, near Mr. Wachendorl's greenhouses.

The prices of these lots will be moderate and special inducements will be offered to builders. Builders are preferred bidders in any part of town.

Of high-priced lots, it is unnecessary to talk. It is no trouble to select a lot if a man has plenty of money, but if he has to cut his cloth close it takes a good deal of looking to get suited. Right here it is worth while to say that it pays to look round a good deal. Some real estate owners sell often, turn over their money fast and are content with smaller profits than others. Some localities good in themselves have not been developed and formed like others and their owners are willing to sell for less. A shrewd man can see the development coming and buy ahead of it.

As to building a house it is only the men with moderate means that there is any need to talk to. Any fool can build a house if he has plenty of money, but it is a wise man indeed who can make himself comfortable without much cash. There are some who do it.

in installments, with a definite termination.
The prettiest transaction a man can make is to get a long loan at low interest from a loan company, and carry about a fourth more than enough building and loan stock to pay the debt when the shares mature. This is rather diffithe arrangement, and it pays handsomel The stock earns interest as fast as the loan

The stock earns interest as fast as the loan—sometimes faster.

But if you have to take the building and loan association straight you need not fret about the interest you pay, for you are now paying in rent as much per month as you will pay for principal and interest when you get into your new house. If a man has an eligible lot he can duplicate the house he is renting and pay the building and loan association not a cent more than he now pays his landlord.

But he must have the lot before the building and loan people can aid him. He will just have to hustle round and get up the money, that's all. If he is not worth as much as the value of the lot he will have to wait awhile. But if he has a third or a half the money necessary to buy the lot he can generally get six or twelve, and sometimes eighteen, months on the rest. If the price is strictly cash, and he has half of the money, the ought to be able to make some arrangements to horrow the rest. the price is strictly cash, and he has half of the money, he ought to be able to make some arrangements to borrow the rest. He would better not do this, however, unless he sees his way clear to pay it back, for there might be such a stringency in the money market that he could not get an extension, and then he would lose his nest egg. But if he is sure of paying the second half the sconer he buys his lot the better, for he will not get it for less, and the probability is that if he waits many months on Atlanta dirt he will have to pay for it.

About building houses, if you are going to spend as much as $1,500 to $3,000 on a cottage, pay a small part of it to an architect for a plan In a house, more than in almost anything else In a house, more than in almost anything else, a thing of beauty is a joy forever. A man who bullds a house for $10,000 or $15,000 does not think of starting without an architects plan, but the man who has a cottage very often thinks he can not afford it. It may be a matter of fifty or a hundred dollars, but it will make your house about twice as comfortable and twice as satisfactory. A great many pretty houses are made ugly by bad taste in painting. It is hard to make any suggestions on this point. Your architect is your best adviser. Sued for Libel.

DUBLIN, February 18.-Mr. Campbell, men DUBLIN, February 18.—Mr. Campbell, member of the house of commons for South Fermenagh, and private secretary to Mr. Parnell, was charged in a speech delivered at an Orange meeting, with having provided the knives with which Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under Secretary Burke were murdered in Phonix park. The speech was published in the Belfast News Letter. Mr. Campbell brought an action of libel against the paper, which was tried in Dublin today. The paper was found guilty of publishing the libel and damages of 200 pounds were awarded the plaintiff.

The streets on which the procession moved were crowded with spectators. It is generally admitted to be the most brilliant mardi grasseason that New Orleans has ever enjoyed. The city is crowded with visitors from all parts of the country. In fact, there has not been so many northern and western people in the city at any time since exposition year.

The Rex reception and ball tonight at the carmival palace was a brilliant affair.

SOME PEOPLE YOU MEET. "Uncle Dick, the mixer," spent yesterday in Atlanta and today will start for his home

"Uncle Dick" is Richard M. Bishop, former governor of Ohio, one of the few and one of the best democrafs who has ever had the henor of filling that much sought after position.
"Why was I called 'the mixer?" said the ex-governor as he sat in a Kimball house par-lor last evening. "The answer is an easy one. You see, when I ran for governor the boys used to tell it on me that I kissed every baby in each of the eighty-eight counties of Ohio— and Itexpec," he added with a smile, "they were mighty near right. I mixed with the people, didn't think myself above them you know, and that is the reason I never was defeated. I wouldn't give my qualities as a 'mixer' for the ability of the three best orators in Ohio." And a great mixer he was—was Uncle Dick So great that when in the republican state of Ohio, he ran against West, the "Blind Man Eloquent," he was elected by 3,200 plurality.

"I am in the south for my health," continued the governor, "but I find time to mix little business with pleasure. I make it a point to visit all my customers in the south. We have a large southern trade."

Governor Dick is at the head of the firm of

R. M. Bishop & Co., his boys, as he calls them, being the junior members. A wealthy merchant before he went into politics, Governor Bishop found his fortune well-nigh gone at the end of his term. He has a heart as big as his massive head, and nobody ever applied to him in vain. But your uncle didn't sit back and much cash. There are some who do it.

"I don't think so," said the governor, "There is no precedent for any such action and I don't believe it would hold. The democrats have the governor and lieutenant governor, besides both branches of the legislature. So I besides both branches of the legislature. So I think they'll be able to thwart any such schemes. Then, too, there are many republican congressional aspirants, who would like to see the lines of the districts changed back. There is a sort of feeling that this regulation of congressional representation is one of the fruits of party victory, and I've no doubt it will be accomplished."

Governor Bishop has been visiting all the principal cities of the south. He is a great advocate of northern people visiting the south and practices what he preaches.

THE SAD DEATH OF THE FUGITIVE

He Flies from Macon to Denver, and Under the Name of Haupt, Tries to Conceal His Identity—His Name Disclosed.

DENVER, Col., February 18.—[Special.]— The dead body of James Mathews, of Macon, Ga., who died here, lies in a local undertaking

The officers of the law need search for him no more, as the fugitive from justice has gone to a higher court to settle his account. Matthews came to Denver on the first day of

THE STRANGER NOTICED. It was noticed from the first that he was far from well, and exceedingly nervous, and the sudden opening of a door would startle and drive all the blood from his face. He gave his name as I. P. Haupt, and under that cog-nomen he had quite a circle of friends. perate attempt he made Christmas eve to take the life of George Darrow, a prominent citizen of that place. A party of friends were in the leading hotel of the place passing the compliments of the season, when a discussion arose on some trivial matter.

THE FATEFUL SHOT. cussion, and the latter concluded his word had been called in question, and quick as a flash his revolver was drawn and put ln action. The first shot failed to reach its mark, and this gave Darrow time to draw his own weapon. But the moment it was out of his pocket a ball struck him in the breast and he fell to the floor, while the bullet from his pistol went into the ceiling.

Mathews at once made a rush for the door, and declared he would kill whoever followed

Those present gave their attention to the man they supposed to be dying, and the wouldbe murderer got a few minutes time to disguise himself and was soon bound for the north, lingered between life and death, while the po officers scoured the country in search of Mathews. It was believed that he was in every marsh was scoured in the vain hope that the man might be found. THE LETTER FROM HOME.

Two days before his death Mathews received and when he had read it only part way through, he broke into tears. He was in the parlor of his hotel at the time, and the landlady was present. To her he said that he had received good news, and could not control his emotion.

"My name is not Haupt, but Mathews, and I hope I can soon be addressed by it without fear of some officer of the law putting me behind the bars as soon as he hears it. The man I thought I killed is recovering, praise God.'

His sudden death.

He then related practically the same story as is told above. He knew he was a sick man, but the people about the house had no idea that he was at death's door. His room-mate was startled by the sudden remark, "Good-bye, George, old boy, I'm gone."

He tried to raise the dying man, but the poor fellow fell back dead. The immediate cause of death is thought to have been pneumonia. COLUMBUS CHAT.

THE CASE CLOSES

AND THE LAWYERS ARE TALKING

The Evidence in the Case Against Lowenthal All In-The Prisoner Makes His Statement to the Jury.

Macon, Ga., February 18.—[Special.]—The trial of Lee Lowenthal for the murder of Herman Bohnefeld was resumed this morning with the cross-axamination of Witness W. H. McCrary.

The state rested, and the defense comnenced the examination of witnesses. A very material witness was Sandy Wilcox. He is known in Macon as "the blonde gambler," about whom the papers had so much to say re-cently. He was dealing in the game when Wilcox was sworn and said:

Was subpoenaed and sworn by 'state, "Bohnefeld came in just befere twelve. Killing shortly after three o'clock. Lowenthal in there since ten or eleven o'clock. Lowenthal playing before Bohnefeld. Bohnefeld playing draw poker. Played an hour. Lowenthal playing stud poker about one hour. Six or seven playing. Bohnefeld had to crowd himself in. One person withdrew. Didn't like Bohnefeld forcing himself in. Only one person between Lowenthal and Bohnefeld. Played two or two and a half hours before Lowenthal and Bohnefeld began to fuss. McKenna said to Lowenthal 'would divide pot., Lowenthal whispered, 'was paired' and couldn't. Perfectly proper. If paired no one could beat him. Bohnefeld draws chair back and says, "I've got enough of this," and cursed. Bohnefeld said, "I mean you," and pointed to Lowenthal. Lowenthal said Bohnefeld had no right to use such language. Made remarks about mother and sister. Threw Lowenthal on the floor and commenced to pound him. Brown and Swift separated them. Lowenthal had called enough. On floor at time. He was followed by Washington Dessau for the defense. C. F. Bartlett next spoke for the defendant. Pending his argument court adjourned until tomorrow, when the battle will resume. The solicitor general will close for the state.

THAT $1,200 CHECK,

Which the Smart Young Son of Bill Pledger Took In.

ATHENS, Ga., February 18.—[Special.]—No further developments are to be noted in the $1,200 check stolen from a letter sent by Russell and Hughes, of this city, to the Chemical National bank of New York. The check was put in the letter by Mr. F. M. Hughes, and the letter was sealed tightly. Information, since received, shows that the letter went to its des tination, but minus the check. The letter had been opened, and the check was gone. A minute description of the check was given, and it will be traced up if possible. It all goes to indicate that something is wrong, and the check was evidently stolen. Moreover, it went over the Northeastern railroad. Now who go it? That is the question.

COFFEE ON TRIAL.

THE JURY EMPANELLED IN A SHORT

And the Murder of Deputy Marshal Merritt Will Once More Undergo a Legal In-vestigation—The Jury.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., February 18.-[Special.]-To-day was the time set in hall superior court for the trial of Mr. John Coffee, charged with the murder of United States Deputy Marshal John N. Merritt, which occurred at Lula, Georgia, in the early part of the night of the 6th day of March, 1886.

At 8:30 this morning the case was sounded. The state announced ready and the defense and the same announcement. Mrs. Scott Logan, of Lula, a very important witness for the state, (it being at her restaurant, or near it, that the killing took place) being absent, the state withdrew its announcement of ready for the time being, and the attorneys on either side, speet, a portion of the features. side spent a portion of the forencon in skirmishing. A bailiff was dis-patched at once to Lula to look after Mrs. Logan, and when the state was assured that Mrs. Logan would be on hand when needed, the case was again called and all announced ready.

THE JURY SECURED. The court room was packed and the task of making the important twelve, contrary to all expectations, was made up very easily. At 6 o'clock the last one was sworn in. There were one hundred and twenty-five jurors summoned, but the jury was selected from seventy names. Twenty-eight went off for cause, the state struck ten and the defense twenty, at which time eleven were in their seats. The next name or the last was called and put upon the defendant, and was sworn.

WHQ THE JURORS ARE. The personnel of the jury is as follows: Nine farmers, one carriage painter, one country merchant, and a carpenter. Mr. W. B. Sim-mons, painter, and A. L. Smith, carpenter, live in Gainesville. Mr. Arnold L. Bennett is a merchant at Sulphur Springs station, while the other nine: John W. Pass, Stephen M. Reid, George R. Lott, Thos. J. Willia S. Ramsey, Jesse W. Buffington, Alfred Maddox, William B. McConnell and Starling B. Chastain till the soil in every section of the county. The jury fine combination, and will do justice.

Mr. Coffee looks pleasant and hopeful, and wears upon his face that determination which is peculiarly his own. His mother, who is growing old, is by his side as is also Mrs. Moske Hyder, his sister. He is defended by Judge J. B. Estes, and Colonels F. M. Johnson, of Gainesvile; A. B. Wofford, of Homer, and C. R. Faulkner, of Bellton; while the state is up-held by Solicitor-General Howard Thompson, assisted by Messrs. Perry and Dean and Colo-nel Samuel C. Dunlap.

The negro was late in coming to his work, and was reprimanded by Hilliard. Some words ensued and Hilliard struck him with a small stick. The negro way to his cabin and returned with a Hilliard struck him with a small stick. The negro went to his cabin and returned with a pistol concealed on his person. He soon succeeded in renewing the difficulty, whereupon, he drew the weapon, and fired, the ball taking effect in the stomach. As soon as the shooting was done, the murderer fled, and has not been captured. His nane is Bill Burford, a dark ginger cake, about thirty years, medium height and heretofore, bearing a very good reputation. Parties are on his trail.

THE MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

GRIFFIN, Ga., February 18.—[Special.]— Jennie Tillman, a colored girl, was shot very mysteriously while going home from church last night. She either does not know, or will not tell, who did it, and the party accompanying her from church displays equal ignorance as to the guilty one. Suspicion points very strongly to Ike Miller, her escort, as the guilty one; but, whether it was intentional, if he is the guilty one, or accidental, will hardly ever be known. The ball entered the fleshy part of the shoulder, making a painful but not serious the shoulder, making a painful but not serious wound. Dr. J. M. Kelly was called in, and succeeded in extracting the bullet with but little difficulty. The pistol was evidently a sorry one.

STATESBORO, Ga., February 18.—[Special.] On Saturday night at Hodge's still. in this county, the negro hands got into a riot and proceeded to shoot each other, and in the melee two negroes were shot, and a son of Mr. E. W. Hodges was also shot. None will die.

THE FOREST FIRES

Which are Destroyting the Forests in Brooks County

QUITMAN, Ga., February 18 .- [Special.] For weeks forest fires have been raging in this county and the adjoining ones. The early mornings are so dark because of the fall of smoke and heavy dew that it is impossible to distinguish an object at the distance of fifty

The recnt rain did not extinguish these fires and reports come that thousands of panels of fencing, large areas of pine timber, and many turpentine farms are being destroyed. It was so dry a short time ago that the aveage well failed to furnish water, streams ceased to exist, cattle had to go miles for water, fish-ponds became dry land, and the fish in them were caught by the thousands

Farming operations generally are behind, and planters are now putting in two licks where formerly they hit one.

SHOT TO DEATH.

THE DEPUTY SHERIFF OF LOWNDES

Who Had Threatened to Murder His Wife on Sight-A Terrible Fight at Dash-er's Station-Killing Justified.

VALDOSTA, Ga., February 18 .- [Special.]-W. J. Nelson, deputy sheriff of Lowndo county, shot and killed Ed Wright, colored at Dasher, a station on the Georgia Souther and Florida road, five miles from Valdost HE HAD BEATEN HIS WIFE.

Wright had beaten his wife most brutally on Sunday, and she fied to Mr. V. F. Dasher's house for protection. Mr. Dasher locked her in one of his outhouses, and Wright placed himself at the door and swore that he would burn up the whole county if Mr. Dasher did not turn the woman out, and he said that he meant to kill her on sight. Mr. Dasher sent out for him for assault and attempt to murder

THE WRETCH CAPTURED. Wright was overpowered about dark by a posse and handcuffed. He fought like a mad man. Enroute to Valdosta in a buggy, with Orrin Hightower, he raised his handcuffed hands suddenly, and hit Mr. Dasher a blow on the head, and sprang from the buggy. The horse became unmanageable, and in the dark the negro escaped. He went back to Dasher's during the night, and got rid of his hand cuffs. Later Deputy Sheriff Nelson found him, and on demanding his surrender Wright made an effort to draw his pistol, but Nelson got the drop and fired first.

FELL DEAD IN THE ROAD. Wright wheeled and ran about a hundred yards and fell dead. The coroner's jury found the shooting justifiable. Wright was a very bad man, and white and colored people about Dasher, openly expressed their satisfac tion at his death. No effort has been made as yet to detain the officer on account of his

Cuticura Succeeds

Having been a sufferer for two years and a half from a disease caused by a bruise on the leg, and having been cured by the CUTCURA REMEDIES when all other methods and remedies failed, I deem it my duty to recommend them. I visited Hot Springs to no avail, and tried several doctors without success, and at last our principal druggist, Mr. John F. Finlay(to whom I shall ever feel grateful), spoke to me about CUTCURA, and I consented to give them a trial, with the result that I am perfectly cured. There is now no sore about me. I think I can show the largest surface where my sufferings sprang from of any one in the state. The CUTICURA REMEDIES are the best blood and skin cures manufactured. I refer to druggist John P. Spring Medicine

Is a necessity with nearly everybody. The run down, tired condition at this season is due to impurities in the blood which have accumulated during the winter, and which must be expelled if you wish to feel well. Hood's Sarsaparilla throughly purifies and vitalizes the blood, creates a good appetite, cures biliousness and headache, gives healthy action to the kidneys and liver, and imparts to the whole body a feeling of health and strength. He Thinks the Board of Firemasters Did a Wise Thing—The Fire Escape Ordi-nance—The Waterworks Election,

The insurance of the firemen by the board of firemasters was freely discussed about the city hall yesterday, and everybody was with the board and the firemen.

Mayor Glenn indorses the insurance.

"I believe," he says, "that the board of firemasters had a right to insure the firemen assists accidents, and I believe that it was against accidents, and I believe that it was good policy for them to do so."
But Mr. Woodward says that he was surprised when you signed that warrant."

"So I see. But Mr. Woodward was only figuratively speaking. Then, too, if Mr. Woodward looked at this matter as I look at 4t he would have signed the warrant, too."

The way. The compensation paid the firemen is not fixed by the general council, but is left entirely to the discretion of the board of firemasters. They can increase or diminish it in their discretion, so long as they keep within the appropriation made by the general council each year for the support of the fire department. As a part of the compensation of the firemen they have as much right to insure them against accident as they would have to add that much to their as they would have to add that much to their pay. It does not amount to more than $2 a month for each man. The difference being that—if it were added to their pay—the firemen alone would be benefited by it, while the city receives the benefit when it is put in the shape of an accident policy."
"And you say you believe it is a good

"Yes, I believe that it is good policy and great economy, too, on the part of the fire-masters to insure the firemen against accidents, because if a fireman is disabled while discharging his duties, the city has always continued his pay until he recovered, and it would be an outrage not to do so. Now, under this accident insurance, the insurance company will pay him insurance, the insurance company will pay him for his lost time while he is recovering from any injuries he may receive while discharging his duties, and the city will be relieved from it. Last year two firemen were killed by a wall falling on them, and their pay for the remainder of the year, with the approval of the council, was given to their widows, amounting to several hundred dollars. Under this insurance, the company pays to the widow two thousand dollars if a fireman is killed and the city is relieved from any obligation to provide for or aid the widow. It makes a better fire-for or aid the widow. It makes a better fireman when he knows that if he loses his life, his wife and family will be provided for, and if he is crippled his wages will be continued."

"Do you believe it will stand—that the board of aldermen will concur?"
"I hope so, but as the general council has the right to control the management of the fire department, I presume that the insurance will not be continued next year under the disapproval of the council." proval of the council.

The Fire Escapes.

The ordinance committee of the general council has in its hands an ordinance to require fire escapes upon buildings for the protection and safety of life.

The paper will be presented at the next meeting.

meeting.

It requires, upon all buildings in the city over two stories high, not including basement, used as a factory, workshop, lodge room, hotel, boarding house, or sleeping apartments, outside fire escapes of such character and material as may be required. The ordinance gives the chief of the fire descriptory tower to locate the escapes in quired. The ordinance gives the chief of the fire department power to locate the escapes in front, rear or sides of the building.

"All escapes," the ordinance says, "shall be of sufficient strength and occupy such position and be connected with such platform or landing, or otherwise, as to be safe and practicable of use on occasions when such use may be precessary."

The paper requires the chief of the fire department to make an investigation and before the first of April submit a written report desig-nating the buildings in the city which should have fire escapes placed upon them.

The Printing Committee. The committee on printing, composed of Councilmen Kinyon, McLendon and Middle-brooks, have been figuring on the bids for the city printing, and will meet next Monday and make the award.

The Pelice Commission. The election for two members of the board of police commission will take place at the next regular meeting of the general council. So far but little interest has been manifested in the election.

The gentlemen mentioned in connection with the position are Captain J. W. English and Captain Brotherton, the retiring members, and Hon. William Venable, Hon. Frank P. Rice and Mr. Abe Fry.

The Waterworks Election. The waterworks and sewer board's election is not attracting much attention, and unless some one goes to work the bonds will never be issued.

be issued.

There is some opposition to the bonds.
The opposition, too, is solidifying, and it is beginning to show itself. It claims that the city can get along without more money to spend and if the bonds are issued it will prove a source of extravagance. Mr. Kontz, chairman of the water works committee, says that the friends of the bill are not expressing themselves at all.

The board of aldermen will meet tomorrow THE INMAN PARK SALE.

The Finest Suburban Residence Quarter Near Atlanta to be Opened. One of the most important real estate movements of the year-if not the most importantis the Inman park sale.

It will take place on the 27th of this month, rrow week. The property is controlled by the East Atlanta Land company. Its improvement was begun with the building of the Edgewood electric line about a year ago, and today it is the finest suburban property near Atlanta.

The natural beauty of the park has made it quite a popular Sunday resort, and a number of beautiful residences made have been built within the past twelve months Elegant cottage homes in even greater number have been erected, and more are in process of erection. A dozen or more are to be begun within the next few days, the contracts already within the next iew days, the centracts arready being let.

The property still controlled by the land company has been kept abreast of the private improvements and is now in excellent condition. The sales already consummated were made with a view to making the neighborhood a select one and in this, if the readiness with which lots offered are taken is an indication, the land company has been signally successful. The line between Atlanta and Edgewood is building up rapidly. Inman park is naturally the best property along the line, being readily accessible and not too far out, and the sale on the 27th interests everybody that has not already a home.

Good judges of Atlanta real estate say that this property is the best now on the market.

WASH STEELE DIES OF HIS WOUNDS INFLICTED MONDAY NIGHT.

Called Out of His House at Ten O'Clock, He Was Attacked by Several Ruffians and Cut to Death

Washington Steele died of his wounds yes terday afternoon terday afternoon.

An account of the stabbing occurred in yesterday's Constitution, but before Steele died he gave a somewhat fuller account of the circumstances of the cutting.

He was at his home, on Humphries street, when he was called out by a mulatto named Will Lattimore, who said that there was a drunken white man down the street whom he wanted Steele to help carry home.

Steele left the house and started to carry the man home, when they passed a crowd that was boisterous, cursing and swearing and cutting up generally.

Steele said that he had nothing to do with the fracas, but was soon surrounded by a mob of young white men, and that two or three of them set upon him and one who was kneeling over him stabbed him in the abdoman.

That was about all he ever told of the story.

He seemed to be bewildered and uncertain as to the identity of his assailants, but mentioned, among others, two of the Kyle boys and a young man named Love.

Dr. W. H. Hood dressed his wounds, after he had been taken from the sidewalk and conveyed to a little cabin on Battle street by sev eral parties, who simply thrust him in at the door and left hurriedly, without expiaining who they were or the cause of the trouble.

Dr. Hood found that the intestines were protruding from the gash, and were so badly swollen that it was with much difficulty that they were replaced, and then some of the stitches bursted.

stitches bursted.
Dr. Hood called in several physicians to assist him, but all that they could do did not relieve the wounded man, and he continued sinking until his death occurred yesterday.
Dr. J. C. Avary, coroner of Fulton county, was notified and will investigate the matter today.
Yesterday evening, Patrolman Cook and Yesterday evening, Patrolman Cook and Thompson, who were investigating the case, arrested Claude Love, a young white man, and locked him up.

Love refused to talk about the case, but said that he would tell what he had to tell when his trial came off.

trial came off.

The case is rather a mysterious one, and there is evidently some very dirty work at the bottom of it. So far as has been learned the negro was murdered by some member of the drunken mob, as it was shown that he was a peaceable law-abiding man, and bore a good reputation in the community where he lived.

He was not one of the mob, but was engaged in the charitable task of taking a drunken man home, by request of a friend, when the fatal blow was received.

Miss Charlotte Thompson made her first appearance in this city last evening, producing that beautiful moral drama—"Jane Eyre." This lady ranks as one of the finest artists on the American or foreign stage. Certain it is that her conception of character is of the keenest order—the nervous sensibility and delicate touches of pathetic sentiment riveting the audience, and holding every person spel-bound by the magic portrayal. As "Jane Eyre," this accomplished lady made a lasting impression; it is a difficult character to represent, and in the hands of an ordinary artiste would not be especially attractive; the pride of conscience, banishment, the humility of character, all were brought out so vividly and so true to nature as to appear real in every particular. And the supports are also first-class, selected especially for the parts. There was nothing in the play that catered to a low and groveling taste. On the contrary, no more finished presentations was ever witnessed upon our boards. If the stage had more of such plays, and such actors, instead of the honsensical and sensational dramas that possess no moral, but tend rather to degnoralize, it would be batter for the profession at large and the public. And the formation of companies like that of Charlotte Thompson's will do much to reform the sentiment in reference to those who have chosen the dramatic field.

Mattle Vickers.

The New Orleans Pails States thus noticed this.

Mattle Vickers.

Mattle Vickers.

The New Orleans Daily States thus noticed this star in its issue of January 13:

"Gaylor's comedy drama entitled 'Jacquine or Paste and Diamonds,' was produced at the St, Charles last night to a large and thoroughly appreciative audience. Mattle Vickers, the popular soubrette, appeared to excellent advantage as Jacquine, with her fine dancing, sweet singing and sprightly methods, deserved and elicited the greatest applanse throughout. Miss Vickers's support, including Mr. Joseph M. Doner, who made a most favorable impression last evening, is quite acceptable. The play, like all plays written for a soubrette, is made up of a happy combination of all those taings best calculated to give emphasis to the special talents of the star. The play, which will be produed tonight and during the remainder of the week, is well worth seeing."

"La Tosca."

"La Tosca."

Fanny Davenport will make her re-appearance at DeGive's opera house next Monday and Tuesday evenings, presenting M. Victorien Sardou's intense and enthralling drama. "La Tosca," which since its original production at the Broadway Theater, New York, has raised more discussion and brought more returns into Miss Davenport's than anything she has ever produced. Theatergoes who were furturate events to witness the and brought more returns into Miss Davenport's than anything she has ever produced. Theator-goers who were fortunate enough to witness the star's portrayal of Sardon's heroine—of Tosca, bird of song—who, jealous, easily wrought upon, betrays her lover to the death, and ends her own fateful career on the fog-covered ramparts of the Fort St. Angelo, will have carried away deep and lasting impressions of the most powerful and artistic personation of the most powerful and artistic personation of the most payerful and artistic personation of the modern stage. In "La Tosca," which is gloomy, weird and strangely picturesque, Sardou has fashioned a tragi-drama of no ordinary fibre, but witten a play full of touches of virility and passion. His heroine is a marvelous study of the complexites of the woman nature. Concerning Tosca, he says: "In literature, her intelligence does not go beyond love passages. Her lover has given her the new Heloise to read. All the philosophy of it tires her. She understands only one thing in the book—that there are two lovers who profess and analyze love a great deal, but who love very little, in which she is perfectly right. Briedy, she is a woman—always a woman—solely a woman, but a woman of that time, of that country, and not at all of your time or country."

RAILROAD NEWS.

An Hourly Train to Hapeville. We have it from President Alexander and General Managor Gabbett, that the Central railroad officials are preparing to put on t shour schedule betwen Hapeville and Atlanta. They are now arranging for suitable cars, and They are now arranging as the line to be patient ask the people along the line to be patient ask the people along the ready. They propose to make this train a feature and one that will deserve good patronage. It cannot be started at once, because they have no cars on the road such as will be needed, and they do not wish to inaugurate the train until they are fully prepared to make it a success. The train will start from near the Whitehall street crossing on the hour, and returning will leave the other end on the half hour. This will be a great service to all the people along the line.

It will stop for passengers anywhere. Two New Railroad Agents.

Mr. F. L. Drake has been appointed commercial agent of the Illinois Central, with headquarters at Atlanta.

Mr. Charlie Ludlum, within the next few days, is to be located in Atlanta as traveling passenger agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

To Change After Mardi Gras. Mr. John Gee's change from the West Point to the Central, is to be made after mardi gras, hav-ing been postponed again. Conductor Law, who was spoken of as Mr. Gee's successor, is rnming his train as usual, and does not expect the promo-tion. There is no intimation as to who will take Mr. Gee's place with the West Point.

Personal Mention. Mr. R. W. Hunt, traveling passenger agent for the Central, with headquarters at Augusta, was in Atlanta yesterday. HE HAS A WORD TO SAY ABOUT THE CHARGES AGAINST HIM.

He Claims That He Never Acted as Agent for Duncan—It Was Simply a Busines Transaction—He Talks of Duncan.

"The charges are all false, and I shall prove it if the case comes to trial."

Lawyer C. A. Loring was emphatic in what he said. He denounced his arrest as an outrage, and in the strongest terms dealt with the man or men who had caused it

"Those charges are calculated to do me harm with those who do not know me," he said. "But to those who know me, no explanation is necessary. The charges are made by a man named Mehaffey, whom I do not know, but I know very well that they were instigated by the man Duncan.
"It is unnecessary to go into the details of the multifarious suits brought by Duncan and those whom he instigated against the Clayton Sewing Machine Motor company, of which I am the largest stockholder, for the purpose of harrassing the company in order to carry out his nefarious schemes. His course in the suits mentioned was very reprehensible, as the rec-ords of the superior court will verify.

"The groundless charges made by Mehaffey, at the instigation of Duncan, grew out of my connection with the Clayton Motor company, and the purchase of certain interests in the patent owned by the company. Regarding the accusations made in the affidavits of Mehaffey, I will briefly note: that I bought certain interests-not stock-in the Clayton Motor patent, and sold them to Duncan, retaining the difference between the buying and selling price as my profit. I deny as unqualifiedly false the charge made in the affidavits that I acted as the agent or attorney of Duncan, in any manner, shape or form, or that I received a cent of compensation from him as commis-sion or a fee for the interests in the patent sold him. If I am guilty of the crime charged then there is not a merchant or broker in the city that is not guilty of the same crime hundreds of times a day, when they sell goods or property of any kind at an advance of what they pay."

"Who is Mehaffey?" "I do not know Mehaffey, the person who made the affidavits upon which the warrants were issued, and never knew there was such a man in existence before yesterday, and was never consulted as to the truth of the charges preferred by anyone. It is a gross mistake of the rights of personal liberty when a citizen is dragged before the courts upon accusations made by a total stranger, and to publish him broadcast in the press as a criminal, without even the poor privilege of being heard. What redress has a citizen except personal violence, and no law-abiding citizen wishes to violate and no law-abiding citizen wishes to violate the law to redress a wrong. The most honored citizen in our community is liable to have his character blackend at any time in a similar manner by some irresponsible person, who may or may not have a grudge against him. This wanton manner of defaming character through the machinery of the courts and press is a rejic of the dark ages, and is on a par with despotic Russia where the lives and liberties of the people are in the iron grasp of the car."

of the people are in the iron grasp of the czar."

"And who is Duncan?"

"That's what I would ask—who is he, where does he hail from, and what is his business? I was informed when I first had any dealings with him, that he was a lawyer from Rirmingham, but his domicile since then has changed so often, it is hard to locate him. It is not true, as stated, that he was confined to his room and unable to attend to his business personally. Several years ago this same Robert P. Duncan was the president of a company that was said to own a meritorious patent. The company had beautifully printed circulars with cuts issued, extolling the virtues of the patent. The scheme of the company was to send out oily-tongued representatives to dispose of the privileges in the various states and counties to sell she patented articles. A number of our citizens were mulcted to the tune of several thousand dollars before they found out a fraud and confidence game had been practiced upon them. The company had no patent, and failed to fill the orders of the parties to whom it had sold county rights, as it had agreed to de under its contracts. This man, Robert P. Duncan, was the president and head of this confidence scheme."
"I could add other instances of his perfidy,

"I could add other instances of his perfidy, but this suffices for the present. He is irresponsible financially, as numerous citizens of this and other places can attest to their sorrow. When the proper time comes I will vindicate my honor, and show up the true character of my accuser."

Mr. Loring added that Duncan was a sharp, shrewd fellow, "just the man for a confidence scheme." Several Atlanta men indorsed his statements about Duncan's connection with the statements about Duncan's connection with the scheme outlined above.

"What I want to reiterate," added Mr. Loring, "is that I never in any way acted as Duncan's agent. He was glad to get the properties at the figures I sold them to him, and there never was a word about paying me any fees or commissions or anything of the sort. And F think my arrest was an unmitigated outrage.

JUDGE HAYDEN'S FUNERAL.

He is Laid to Rest in Oakland Cemetery.

Yesterday, a few minutes after 12 o'clock, the remains of Judge J. A. Hayden arrived in the city, accompanied by a large escort of relatives and friends from his old home in Florida.

The casket was taken in charge by Undertaker H. M. Patterson and conveyed to Oakland cemetery, where the funeral occurred.

The following gentlemen acted as escorts and pall-bearers:

Escorts—Judge John Collier, W. Markham, John Glenn, W. A. Moore, T. G. Healey, M. R. Berry, G. W. Adair, W. A. Powell.

Pall-bearers—Z. D. Harrison, T. J. Hightower, H. T. Inman, R. J. Lowry, R. M. Farrar, Dr. J. F. Alexander, W. W. Draper and C. E. Currier.

C. E. Currier.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Barnett, and were solemn and impressive.

Judge Hayden was well known in Atlanta, and a long procession of his old friends followed the remains to their last resting place in Oakland cemetery, where the interment occurred.

Mrs. J. W. Rankin's Luncheen and Musical -Other Entertainments Past and to Come-Personal Mention.

Thirty-five of her lady friends were invited by Mrs. Rankin, whol was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. McLanren, of Macon, her daughter, Mrs. Young, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Dr. J. W. Owen.

The magnificent home was elaborately and tastefully decorated throughout, with rare flowers and plants, sending out delicious, all-pervading perfumes, and enhancing with a tropical splendor the elegance of drawing room and dining hall. Flowers and plants were brought from Florida and Washington especially for the occasion, and in prefusion and taste the decorations were never exceeded by a similar entertainment in Atlanta.

The beautiful drawing rooms were resplendent with floral festoonings. Cut-glass vases of roses and maiden-hair fern were placed in the bay windows, and banks of palms and vases filled the mantels. Over the large open doorway between the drawing room and dining room hung a large umbrella of pink and yellow roses; with smilax and orange blossoms.

In the large hallway were floral decorations of va-and orange blossoms.

In the large hallway were floral decorations of varied and unique design, and halfway up the broad stairway, overhamging the balcony, were number-less ferns and palms, which with the smilax and roses that festooned the walls around, the waxen tapers that lighted the staircase and hallways, Beneath the stairway and half hidden by the drapery of rose-adorned portierres was the putch room. There the arriving guests were regaled with delicious punch, served from a massive silver bowl.

Suspended above the bowl was a large umbrella of The upper floor was also lovely in its dec of smikax with roses and ferns. One room was entirely of yellow roses and orange blossoms, and another of red roses and ferns, with the hangings and furnishings to match.

The diaing rooms were perfect wonders of beauty and hrilliance. In one of the dining rooms the decorations were of pansies and orange blos-soms. The tables were lighted by waxen tapers set in silver candelabras. In the center of one of the tables was a small lake, surrounded by a bordering of maiden hair ferns and lilies of the valley. In the lake a miniature ship lay at anchor, laden down with pansies and lilies of the valley. This was a most beautiand llies of the valley. This was a most beautiful piece of art decoration, and was greatly admired by all the guests. On this table the lights had pansy shades, and beside each plate was placed favors of unique design, in satin embroidered with pansies.

In the other dining room the decorations were pink and yellow roses, with orange blossoms, and with banks of palms and ferns on the window ledges and mantels. An unique feature of this table was the ornaments of cut glass in th forms of roses of different colors and shapes. The beautiful pieces of glassware were shapes. The beautiful pieces of glassware were all filled with orange blossoms. By the side of each plate was a beautiful souvenire of satin ribben, each ribbon bearing the name of the guest in silver and gold lettering, and also large corsage bouquetes of roses and illies. The menu was exquisite replete with all the lelicacies desirable. Mrs. Rankin presided at one table and at the other her sister, Mrs. McLauren, of Macon. Each wore toilets in harmony with the ornamentation of the tables and rooms. Mrs. Rankin's toilet was a tea gown of white silk embroidered with pansies.

Mrs. McLauren wore a gown of black silk, emroidered with pansies, and Mrs. Young, a Paris broidered with pansies, and Mrs. Young, a Paris gown of gray silk, embroidered with gold flowers. Mrs. Dr. Owen wore a handsome gown of black lace, with mareschal neil roses.

After the luncheon which occupied two hours, the guests were invited to the music rooms, where a most enjoyable parlor concert was given by Protessors Blumenfeld and Bak.

The music room was also elaborately decorated. By request, at the conclusion of the programme, Mrs. McLauren favored the guests with a beautifully rendered selection from Thalberg. The musical programme by Professors Blumenfeld and Bak was:

This will be a grand concert and members of the Young Men's Christian association will only be admitted on presentation of membership ticket, which will also admit a lady friend. As there will doubtless be a demand for tickets, seats can be reserved at ten cents each. General admission fifty cents, Reserved seats can be had at office of general secretary, sale beginning Thursday morning.

On Monday, at the residence of Mr. John S. Smith, on Fair street, occurred the pretty, quiet wedding of Mr. Will Spalding and Miss Lizzie Butler. The bride looked unusually handsome in a cloth traveling suit, and the flush of excitement, lent by the occasion, added not a little to her animated face. The Rev. Dr. McDonald performed the ceremony in an impressive manner. The guests were the immediate relatives of the bride. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Spalding left for New Orleans to spend mardi gras, and from there they will go to Galveston, Tex., the former home of Mr. Spalding. On their return to Atlanta, Mr. and Mrs. Spalding will be at home to their friends at the Westmoreland house on Marietta street.

A social event of much interest will be the marriage of Mr. Holmes J. Clements and Miss Mattle Dixon, of Woodbury, at the residence of the bride's father, Dr. Dixon, on the 2d of March. The bride-elect is a charming young lady, and a belle in Woodbury, while Mr. Clement's many sterling qualities are well known in Atlanta, he being a student at the Atlanta college.

FASHIONABLE SOCIETY.

The trying ordeals which fashionable society imposes on its devotees are enough to severely test the physical strength and endurance of the most robust. Irregular and late hours, over-rich and indigestible food, late suppers, the fatigue of the ball-room, the bad air of the illy-ventilated, over-crowded theatre, are each, in themselves, sufficient to upset the system and ruin the health of the delicate and sensitive. Combined, they can hardly fail, if persisted in, to seriously impair the health of the hardiest. Ladies generally posses less powers of endurance than their male consorts, and so the sooner succumb to these deleterious influences. They become pale, haggard and debilitated, and constantly experience a sense of lassitude—that "tired feeling," as so many express it. The least exertion fatigues them. Various neuralgic and other pains harrass and distress the sufferer. Headache, backache, "bearing-down" sensations, and "female, weaknesses" follow and sorely afflict the sufferer.

As an invigorating, restorative tonic, soothing cordial and bracing nervine, for debilitated and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has no

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION $2 A YEAR. SENT TO ANY ADDRESS.

ATLANTA, GA., FEBRUARY 19, 1890.

The Good Fortune of Southern Farmers. Latham, Alexander & Co.'s recent circular contained several suggestive points. Although the south produced a good crop of cotton last year, the price of the product has steadily advanced. Consumption has exceeded production. New mills, new laborsaving machinery, and a large population account for this satisfactory state of affairs. At a time when agriculture in the north and west is depressed by low prices, cotton is the single exception. The southern planters alone can produce a $300,000,000 crop that is readily marketable all over the world.

The south has a monopoly in cotton, and there is little fear of over-production, because the growth of cotton is confined to a small section, where it can only be produced by hand labor, with no prospect of the considerable increase of such labor.

The New England farmers who are abannoning their unproductive lands, and the western farmers who complain that their big crops sell for less than it costs to produce them, cannot fail to appreciate the advantages of the southern agricultural situation. Nowhere in this broad country has the farmer a better chance than right here in the rising south.

The Government and the Negro.

To a reporter of the New York World Senator Butler, of South Carolina, explains that his bill providing for government aid for the deportation of the negroes from the south, does not propose that the deportation shall be compulsory. Its provisions are to go into effect. and government aid is to begin, only when the negroes themselves make application. The movement, if there should be any movement after the bill became a law, would be entirely voluntary on the part of the negraes themselves.

Perhaps such an explanation is necessary in quarters where republican partisanship is only another name for ignorance, but it ought to be well understood, even by people who read the republican newspapers, that no sensible person would undertake to introduce in congress a bill which has for its purpose the compulsory deportation of the negro. We have serious doubts, moreover, of the timeliness and utility of the bill introduced by Senator Butler. Even if it became a law, it would not be in the nature of a remedy, and the ony result of it has been to precipitate a partisan discussion in the senate which can do no good in any way. The discussion that was going on in the newspapers was much more to the point than that which has taken place in the senate. The editors, taking their cue from the patriotic and statesmanlike utterances of Mr. Grady, had placed the whole question on a much higher plane than usual; but when the republican senators, with Mr. Butler's bill as their text, took hold of it, they restored it to the political mudhole, and wallowed with it there, grunting with satisfac-

There is another objection to Mr. Butler's feature which provides for government aid for negroes who want to make journeys about the country. This project of putting the government behind the negroes on all occasions, is peculiarly a republican idea, and it is therefore a peculiarly vicious one when looked at in a large The government, as a government, is not supposed to know that there are any negroes in existence. It can only deal with him as a citizen, and it can neither compel a citizen to depart, nor lawfully pay his way if he desires to go voluntarily.

A great deal of harm has been done, and the negroes have been seriously retarded in various ways, by the republican idea, insidi ously instilled into their minds, that, as citizens, they have the government to fall back on in any emergency, being its wards and special pets. This idea has been cultivated until the negro has come to believe that the government is under obligations to come to his relief on all matters pertaining to his public or private welfare. He will improve and develop his good qualities a great deal more rapidly when he becomes convinced that even a negro citizen has to depend on himself if he succeeds in life.

The Bucks and Bill Pledgers among the republicans are trying to convince him that politics is his strong point, but he will learn better in the course of twenty or thirty generations.

A Soldier on Education.

Lord Wolseley, the famous British general, has no fancy ideas. He is a practical man whose strong common sense has enabled him to over-ride the education he re ceived at college.

Only the other day we quoted in these columns a short extract from an educational address delivered by this great soldier. It is worth repeating with a scrap of comment Lord Wolseley advises young people to shun the average novel as something degrading and debasing. He has always found his best reading in the daily newspaper. He received a good classical education, but he docs not hesitate to say that his information has nearly all been acquired from the daily press. He says that the daily newspaper is the production of the minds of experts, of the men who are most competent to handle the subjects they deal with. With no other source of information except the newspaper a man can by the time he reaches the age of twenty-five or thirty be well-informed.

Lord Wolseley is right. Some of the greatest and most useful men of the age were educated by their careful reading of the newspapers.

The writer of this article once knew judge of a county court who had never practiced or read law. His decisions gave fund will be a big thing, and if they can't and speaking was characterized by jud and good taste. One day the judge frankly said that THE CONSTITUTION had been his educator. He had read the paper from its first issue every day, and he had always paid special attention to the supreme court decisions and the reports of court proceedings. With this training, and with the "Code of Georgia" in easy reach, he had found it comparatively easy to discharge his duties on the bench. The judge then remarked that, aside from the legal and business information contained in a great daily, it printed in the course of ten or fifteen years whole library of literary, historical, biographical and general news matter.

But it is unnecessary to enlarge upon the subject. In these days of weak, trashy and vicious books, the best thing a bright youngster can do is to read a good newspaper, and get all he can out of it

Be Merciful to Society.

Isaac Sawtell's cold-blooded murder of his brother Hiram, at Rochester, New Hampshire, is one of the most shocking crimes of the day.

Here is the story in brief. Several weeks ago Isaac Sawtell was pardoned out of the Massachusetts penitentiary, where he had served fifteen years of a thirty years' sentence for rape. After his release he persuaded Hiram to join him at Rochester, and in order to get a bigger share of the family estate killed him, and cut off his head and secreted it. The murder was discovered and Isaac was arrested.

It seems that the Roxbury people and the court officers knew that Isaac Sawtell had been a monster from his youth up. They knew that, besides the crime for which he was sentenced, similar indictments were hanging over him for other offenses of the sam

How did he obtain his pardon? Sawtell, like any other well-educated and intelligent man, saw that it was good policy to behave himself in prison. He pretended to be repentant and reformed man. By extra work he saved up a thousand dollars. With this money he secured the services of a woman and several sentimental persons, including a few preachers, to carry around a petition for Everybody knows how it is with a petition. The people approached signed it to get rid of it. Very few read it. Finally, these paid agents presented the matter to the governor and his council. There was a brief hearing, largely ex-parte, and a judge of the superior court expressed the opinion that Sawtell had been imprisoned long enough. Nobody appeared to protect the people. A wave of gush and sentiment rolled over the governor and his council, and Sawtell was sincerely pitied. The fact that he had hired his tender-hearted advocates to work for him did not come out. So the pardon was issued, and the reformed criminal was hardly out of his convict stripes before he had planned and executed the slaughter of his brother. There are other mistaken pardons besides this one. A governor should always be on his guard against paid attorneys and the sentimental people who invade his office. He should inquire into the record of a criminal. and when he is satisfied that the man is a monster he should pay no attention to professions of repentance and reform. When Judge Hopkins was on the bench of thi circuit he frequently answered an appeal for mercy by saying: "I will be merciful to society," and then proceeded to give the prisoner a heavy sentence. This is something for a governor to think of when he is asked for a commutation or a pardon. It is his business to be merciful to society.

A Chapter of Viking History. We must give up our alleged Anglo-Saxon ncestry, if Mr. Paul Du Chaillu is correct in his assumptions.

Mr. Du Chaillu is a student and a travel-He claims that England was by the Vikings, and that they originated the so-called English people. He found in the British isles old weapons, idols and traces of architecture corresponding with similar things in Scandinavia and other countries occupied by the Norsemen.

We are also asked to give up the old story of the discovery of America by Columbus. Long before his day, in the tenth century, Leif, a Norse sailor, took a ship and reached this coutinent. Finding a point on the New England coast, where grapes were growing, he named the place Vinland, and planted colony there. Vinland figures in the Norse records until 1347, when it is lost sight of, but tradition has it that Thorwaldsen, the sculptor, was descended from one of the Vinland colonists. Du Chaillu is not alone in his belief. He is backed by a respectable number of learned men who have looked into the matter. Perhaps further investigations will lead the English and Americans to repudiate their Anglo-Saxon origin, and join in the claim that they are descended from the Vikings. If we come to this conclusion, the Scandina vians, who are overrunning the northwest, should receive a warmer welcome, or our conduct will be flatly against the timehonored saying that blood is thicker than water.

Platt and the Fair.

Naturally, the people of New York are uch concerned over the attitude of Platt and his republican friends toward the fair bill. That measure is now in a very precarious condition, owing to the fact that Platt has insisted on giving it a political twist. His plan is to place the fund of the fair in the control of his republican henchmen, and if the people of New York to not accede to this modest request, he stands ready to kill the fair bill altogether. The business of getting up fairs has not hitherto been regarded as either partisan or political in its nature, but the fat plum of $15,000,000 which it is proposed to devote to the fair was too tempting for politicians of the Platt stripe to resist, and they now propose to get hold of it, or know the reason why. It is their purpose either to make a spoon or spoil a horn. The result is that the scheme for holding a strictly non-political Christopher Columbus world's fair in New York city is in a very bad way. It is in such a bad way that the prominent men and the populace of New York city were called to assemble in a grand mass meeting Monday night. The call was signed by republicans as well as by democrats. but the neeting will have no influence with Platt and his gang. They know that the fair have the handling of it, they are deter- THE SHARON PRISONERS some experienced miners to help develop the Platt is making his fight against the fair on the ground that the committees and the board of incorporators are democrats, and that if the fair bill passes in its present shape, Tammany Hall will have control of the fund. This claim, however, is made merely to create a diversion. The real ob ject of Platt is to get the fund under the control of the boodle republicans. That is the secret of their opposition.

It is a pity, of course, to see the world's fair scheme, which is not political in any sense of the word, dragged through the gut ters by such a man as Platt, but it's an ill wind that blows nobody any good. Platt's partisan fight against the fair bill, in which he has the aid and support of all the pro-fessional republicans, will have a tendency to bring the republican party of New Yor state into disrepute. It will be deserted by a great many honest and self-respecting men who cannot afford to train with an organi zation that is led and controlled by Platt.

On the other hand, the situation will serve to unite and harmonize the democratic party of New York, and the result of it all will work for the benefit of the whole country. Such men as Platt, mean as they are, are sometimes very useful in helping in the movement for reform.

The Curse of the Age.

The thousands of good people who ar waging war against lotteries and gambling do not go to the root of the evil, and they know it.

They know very well that the greates curse of American life is the speculative fever-the desire to get something for nothing-to strike it rich-to make a fortune by a stroke of chance that will ruin a neighbor The species of gambling called speculation has a thousand followers where lotteries and cards have one. A thousand men go down to poverty and crime through speculation where one falls through the lottery or the faro table.

Let us take the latest sad story in real life to point the moral. The other day the busi ness men of Philadelphia and Atlantic City were astounded to find that Mrs. Edwin Lippincott, of the latter place, had raised son $20,000 on forged paper. Mrs. Lippincott is fifty years old. She is a lady of standing, and had a fortune of $30,000 when sho married. Her husband owns Haddon Hall, one of the most profitable summer hotels on the Jersey coast.

The discovery of the forgeries has ruined Mr. Lippincott, and will probably result in the criminal prosecution of his wife.

What infernal temptation dragged this gray-haired lady down to such a depth of crime? The whole truth has come out. Mrs. Lippincott saw respectable men, good men, speculating in stocks and making money. She tried her luck. For years she was a heavy buyer of stocks, and generally got on the wrong side of the market. She borrowed money of her friends, and of the hotel servants. At last she forged the names of business men on negotiable paper, and obtained loans from personal friends, giving in return checks dated months ahead when she had not a dollar on deposit. Of course, this could not go on forever. The crash came, and she was a ruined woman and a lanta—the victims of speculation are following the methods of Mrs. Lippincott. Occasionally they are sent to jail, or they commit suicide, or run off to Canada. The temptation spares no class. It blasts and blights the Godly church-member as well as the thoughtless man of the world. The greatest danger of the whole business is its apparent or alleged respectability. It is easy to induce men to gamble when the game is called speculation. The Lippincott case should be full of warning to these reckless people whose consuming thirst for riches has made them half mad.

AUGUSTA, Ga., February 18.—[Special.]— The case of the United States vs. John O'Keefe and sixteen other citizens, of Sharon, was called oday in the superior courtroom, where United Possibly a case of so much notoriety, I will not say importance, for I think it a very small affair, never rested before in such youthful hands. The commissioner is about twenty-three years old. United States Marshal Cor bett is twenty-four; Mr. Horace Halden, the leading attorney for the prisoners, is about the same age, and his associate, Hon. W. H. Flem-ing, and United States District Attorney Marion Erwin, the oldest men in the case, were classmates in college, and are both less than thirty-five; so that it is quite a youthful array

WHY CORBETT IS CENSURED I will not suggest that the youthfulness of Marshal Corbett might account for the mis-take he made in arming half a dozen deputies with Winchester rifles, and going into a quiet and peaceable community to arrest its most prominent citizens with the same warlike onstration with which he would have gone to quell a riot. This is the feature in the cas emned by the victims of the outrage, and by the sober-minded public. Had Marshal Corbett met with any resistance in peacefully serving his warrants and arresting his prisoners, and had then called in a force to uphold the dignity and power of the govern-ment, there could have been no complaint; but his course in going first with rifles into a quiet and peaceful community and arresting merchants, farmers and professional men, as though they were murderers and horse thieves, was calculated to cause, rather than prevent, trouble, and is condemned by conservative

THE LAW OF THE CASE. The case against the defendants is brought under section 5,518 of the revised statutes of the United States, which declares: "If two or more persons in any state or territory conspire to prevent by force, intimidation and threat, any person from accepting or holding any office, etc., under the United States, or from discharging any of the duties thereof, or to induce by like means any officer to leave the place where his duties as an officer are required to be per-formed, or to injure him or his property on ac-count of his lawful discharge thereof, each of such persons shall be fined not less than five hundred nor more than five thousand dollars, or imed not less than six months por longer named is scarcely credible; that we have onemixth of all in the whole state, including all the large cities, is preposterous.

"Under the head off
"HOUSEHOLD AND KITCHEN FURNITURE," the seven counties and the whole state return as follows, and remember that nothing under this law is exempt, and remember that every family in the state owns some of this class of property, and that in every case some return of some value is, or ought, under the law to be made; Bibb county, $468,340; Chatham county, $467,870; Clarke county, $234,910; Floyd rounty, $267.564; Fulton county, $1,067,785;
Muscogee county, $288,250; Richmond county, $564,790; the whole state, including the seven counties, $13,632,614.

"This shows that Atlanta has as much of this kind of property as Augusta and Savannah, two cities not destroyed or injured in the war, and long noted for their luxurious homes, and further that our county owns one-thirteenth of all the household and kitchen furniture in the 137 counties. We have many luxurious homes, but the great mass of returns here is from people who are in just such circumstances as thousands of others all over the state.

"Under the head of

"Under the head of

we have some more curious figures. The returns under this head from the seven counties and the whole state, are as follows:
Bibb county, $71,085; Fulton county, $115425; Chatham county, $36,875; Muscogee, $44,285; Clarke county, $52,775; Richmond county, $78,000; Floyd county, $32,781; total in the whole state, $1,257,352. It will be seen that this county returns nearly one-tenth as much as the whole state, about as much as Bibb and Chatham together, and as much as Chatham Floyd and Muscogee put together.
These figures are startling. If every man in Atlanta had a good gold watch it would not even then be true.
The following table will show the total property, the total tax and the total of polls.
It shows that Fulton county returns over onetenth of the whole taxable property of the state, and that she pays over one dollar out of every ten the state raises by taxation:
The total was a follows:

Total from whole state.. 327,863,331 1,140,192 00 "These results," continued Captain Ellis, have been brought about by the enforcement of the same law—every man, every village, every town and every city in Georgia, make returns and pay under the same identical tax

Of course if we have one-tenth of the taxa Of course if we have one-tenth of the taxable property in the state we ought to pay one-tenth of the taxes—if we have only one-twentieth of the property and pay one-tenth of the taxes we are taxed too high or other people too low. That other cities and towns are also unduly taxed, I have no doubt, but the tax plaster draws deeper here than anywhere else.

"I am not here to say that we have not as much property or more than we return, but I have proven beyond question the inequality of the system and that we pay more than our share. Iu addition to this large property tax to the state, we also pay to her more special taxes than any other county.

"We pay, also, a very large county tax—not so large in per cent as large in amount. Our rate on estimated values is not high, but if the amount was raised from almost any other county in the state, it would create a stampede or a small sized revolution. I make no charge of bad management. We pay these taxes, we spend them, and we get the benefit; but the back that bears a burden may ache, though the burden be carried in a good cause.

"But to understand our reall condition, let us look for a few minutes into look for a few minutes into CITY AFFAIRS.

"And we have a total raised out of the people for 1888 of $870,181,74. Add the amount paid to the state and county and our people in 1888 paid over $1,000,000. In 1889, I have not the figures, but the amount was a good deal more.
This is an enormous burden. It is true that a very large part of the amount collected by the city went to pay for street improvements, belgian blocks, sewers, pavements, etc., and was collected from abutting property owners, but the people had to pay it, and no matter what was done withit the burden hurt and the backs that carried much of it were blistered and sore.

the people had to pay it, and no matter what was done with it the burden hurt and the backs that carried much of it were blistered and sore. The tax gatherer who forced the collection stands by again, to raise the assessment by reason of it. I do not seek to condemn public improvement, but it would be well to examine into the present policy and see that while we go steadily forward, we go cautiously. The city has claimed that its assessments are not up to the real values. I have heard that some of the powers that be stand by with pointed goad and desire the assessments raised. I am only an humble tax payer. I have a right to my opinions and to express them. I call attention to these things, disclaiming any superior knowledge, but it will not hurt to investigate. The assessment of property to produce income for the city has caused the undue or disproportionate returns for state and county purposes. The zeal of our city officials has been caught by our county officials. They have as a rule, I am told, insisted on city valuations. They may be right but that is not the rule elsewhere and we suffer greatly by the methods pursued. In a case before our supreme court a few years ago the record showed that a gentleman in a neighboring county had answered a creditor's bill charging insolvency by the statement that he was worth about $35,000. The other party produced his tax returns of not a third of that amount. He said he gave in his property according to the custom of the country in which he lived, but its true value was the large amount. I have no defense to make for him. I attack any system that permits the people in one place to have a custom of one-third values, and permits the permits such inequalities to exist; that permits the people in one place to have a custom of one-third values, and permits the officials of a city or town to fix high values and allows that to be regarded as a necessary standard. This law ought to be changed, or it ought to be administered everywhere allke. In the legislature of 1884-5, and, in several others, I suppose, attempts have been made to change it, but as long as Fulton wants to pay one-tenth of all the taxes, she will be permitted to do so. "Except, perhaps, for undue pressure in the line of public improvement, it cannot be said that our people are heavily taxed. Our main line of public improvement, it cannot be said that our people are heavily taxed. Our main grievance is the inequality of the system.

"I am in favor of liberal treatment. If our home insurance companies get a little money ahead dont run them down to tax on technical ideas of liability. If our banks get a little surplus dont try and take it all away from them. If any men or set of men from any where want to come here with money to put up a factory, or start a store, or organize a bank we must see how much we can do to encourage and not jump on them almost before the work or enterprise is begun to see how much we can pull out in taxes. Let them come in, treat them well, and they will help in many ways including the payment of taxes.

well, and they will help in many ways including the payment of taxes.

"To show other people that we will treat them well, we must treat our own people well. Let us see to it that not a dollar is raised by taxation that is not absolutely necessary, and when raised that it is well spent.

New York City, Hartford, Philadelphia and other cities have alone all they could to enter the country of th New York City, Hartford, Philadelphia and other cities have done all they could to encourage concentration of capital in them and they have adopted a policy whice has made them rich in men and money drawn from less liberal places. Atlanta's future depends upon her becoming a financial and manufacturing center. Our trade has been cut in finany directions. We can go on laying out suburban towns and selling lots one to the other, but to continue the real growth and presperity we have heretofore enjoyed we must encourage men and money to come here. and presperity we have heretofore enjoyed we must encourage men and money to come here. We must build up our industries. We must encourage and support enterprises. We must take an interest in public affairs. We must put men iu office who are honest, capable, liberal and economical, who will strive to reduce taxation. Who have sense enough to know that Rome was not built in a day; that what Atlanta needs is that sure and steady growth which will come with a wise, liberal and economic policy, accomplishing all we want without burdening the people too much causing them to bear more than a just provided that public burden which should full upon all men in our noble old state, equally and alike."

After thanking Captain Ellis by a rising vote, the meeting adjourned.

The Hibernia was organized in 1880 and was the third loan and building association in the city. The two organized previously have since gone out, leaving the Hibernia the oldest. During its existence it has done a vast amount of good, having built over three hundred houses in Atlanta. Since its inception it has collected from its stockholders about $36,500, nearly every dollar of which has been put in real estate in Atlanta.

The contemplated series will be one dollar a month until the par value is $120. Applications for shares should be made to Mr. Peter F. Clarke, Hon. M. Mahoney, Hon. Jacob Haas, Mr. R. M. Clayton, Mr. John Gatins, Mr. J. J. Doonan and Mr. J. G. St. Amand. The Hibernia Loan and Building association

STREET RAILROADS.

MANY MILES OF TRACK TO BE LAID THIS YEAR.

Great Improvements and Extensions to Be Horse Car Lines.

Atlanta already has more miles of street railways than any other city of her size in the country.

But before the present year closes she will-if the work now mapped out and decided upon by the various companies-have double the mileage she now has.

And this is borne out by the facts. Sixty thousand dollars will be spent by one company alone in building extensions to its lines. The work has already been decided upon by the directors of the company, and all that remains to be done now is to carry it to completion. The company that has determined upon this outlay in extension and improvement is the Union Street Railway company. Then the Fulton County Electric Railway ompany, after having determined to do so four months ago, now proposes by the council's permission, to extend its lines out through the western portion of the city, and in fact beyond the city limits in that direction. THEY BOTH WANT IT. So confident is capital in the outcome of a system of street railway in this part of the city, hitherto comparatively destitute in that particular, that the Atlanta and Edgewood elec-tric line also seeks permission to be extended from its present terminus, on Pryor street, clear through the city by the technological school, and finally to the Van Winkle shops.

Both the Fulton County Electric Railway company and East Atlanta Land company, presented petitions to the general council at its last meeting for authority to build lines in this direction. The petitions conflict, both companies asking the privilege of building on Luckie street. It is certain that one company will build, probably both, with a slight modification in route. WHAT THE UNION WILL DO.

But probably the most important and extensive improvement and extension already determined upon, and in the completion of which there are apparently no obstacles, are those of the Union company.

The petition presented to the council and referred to the committee on electrical construction, asks permission to constuct new lines on Smith, Gate City and Love streets to the East Tennessee shops, connecting with the White-hall street line at the corner of Smith. Then they ask to build a new line on Jones avenue, connecting at Marietta street to Poplar street and thence through Davis, Mitchell Mangum and Chapel streets, to connect with the Broad street line to West End, at Nelson

This will make a complete circle of the Broad and Marietta street lines, and it is the intention to arrange schedules so that certain cars leaving Broad street will come back by Marietta and vice versa.

Besides this the Union company asks leave to re-lay its track on Broad street, taken up several months ago, from Marietta to Ala-bama. This link is to connect the Peachtree line and the Whitehall street line. NOT TRANSFER TICKTETS, BUT BETTER.

When this is done, a schedule will be put on running from Kimball street on Peachtree to the bridge over the East Tennessee road on Whitehall street. The cars will make a continuous trip entirely across the city, crossing the railroad by Broad street bridge and Alabama street, over the new tracks, to lay which permission is asked of council. Only one fare will be charged for the trip.

The inauguration of this improvement will be hailed with delight by the traveling public, as no inconsiderable annoyance is caused by transerring at the railroad by passengers traveling from one side of town to the other. Then it will cost only a nickel, where it now requires a dime to go from the First Methodist requires a dime to go from the First Methodist church to Trinity, or thereabouts.

A similar improvement to this is also to be made at once between the Marietta and Decatur street lines. Cars will be run continuously from the Exposition Cotton mills to the Fulton County Spinning mills, a distance of about four miles, at a five cent fare.

These are two features in the Union company's improvements which will be especially appreciated by those who ride on street cars.

MAY BE ELECTRICIY. Besides these improvements and extensions on the Union line, that company will also completely rebuild its Broad street line. That completely rebuild its Broad street line. That is, it will tear up the old roadbed and put down a new one; this just as soon as the necessary permission from the city council is granted.

It has not been definitely settled yet what sort of roadbed will be laid on the Broad street line, but it is possible that rails, with the necessary connections, suitable for electric cars will be laid, so that if at any time an electric system was decided upon, all that would be necessary would be the hanging of the power cable.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS.

cable.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS.

Just now the Ponce de Leon avenue line is being relaid, and beside those mentioned as positively determined upon there are others under consideration by the Union company. One of these is the extension of the Marietta street line to Van Winkle's shops.

Then there is the dummy line to the Confederate home and Reynoldstown, work upon which has already been commenced. The Metropolitan company has still another dummy line extension in view, but it will not be made public until positively determined upon.

A number of improvements on the Metropolitan dummy line will be made, and some are now in progress. A handsome and commodious depot is being built at Georgia avenue and Grant park, and others will be put up at once on the other side of the park at the Fair street line, and also at the junction of Pryor and Georgia avenue.

This will be a great year in street railway building and improvement in Atlanta.

SURPRISED BUT IN BARNEST.

As to the desire of the two electric railway convents to extend in the direction of the

As to the desire of the two electric railway companies to extend in the direction of the technological school, officials of both companies express surprise that the other should have applied for such privilege.

Mr. Joel Hurt, of the Edgewood line, has been confined to his home for the past month. He said yesterday that his company had decided to extend the line as requested of the council several months ago, but that his illness had occasioned delay in perfecting details and getting the petition to the general council. Otherwise it would have been there long ago, although he had no idea that any other company contemplated such a route.

WHICH COMPANY WILL BUILD IT?

WHICH COMPANY WILL BUILD IT? WHICH COMPANY WILL BUILD IT?

Mr. W. S. Thomson, of the Fulton county company, said that his company, in applying for leave to extend out Luckie, North avenue and State street, had simply adhered to plans mapped out four months ago, and contemplated in the original system of that company.

Both companies made their applications in good faith, and whichever one is permitted to lay its tracks on Luckie street will do so without delay.

REV. SAM SMALL

DELIVERS A TEMPERANCE TALK TO A LARGE AUDIENCE.

He Arraigns the City Government, City Offi-cials and Ministers for Their Want of Zeal—Interesting Talk.

Rev. Sam W. Small addressed a large audience of ladies and gentlemen at the temper-ance hall on Hunter street last night. When Mr. Small was introduced he was received with great applause. He began by saying that the intensest interests of his life were wrapped up in the character and destiny of Atlanta.

"She is destined," he said, "to be one of the great cities of the continent. A quarter of a million people will one day call her their home, and her streets will be ten-fold more crowded than now with the men and move-ments of her commerce. None of the prophecies concerning her bright future are overdrawn—they are the prophecies concerning her bright future are overdrawn—they are even nearer to realization than any of us dare to dream. But none of these prophecies are dependent for their realization upon the presence of the liquor traffic in Atlanta. Her prosperity can be consummated without saloons. The day is dead in America when cities must depend upon this shameful traffic for trade and triumphs.

"Atlanta is growing today in spite of saloons. She never retrograded an inch in the two years they were absent from her, but marched right into wealth, numbers and commerce. Today her saloons are drags upon her wheels. They pay $60,000 into her treasury and take more than that out for police, hospitals, paupers and relief. There is not a man in the council, from mayor to janitor, who can show a dime of benefit the saloons have been to the city. Where are the reduced taxes? Where are the reduced taxes? Where are the reduced chaingangs. Recorder Anderson is so overworked he can no longer give any time to the prohibition cause. He has to work two courts per day to dispose of the criminal grist. The police have to be increased thirty-nine men, because a third of them are on witness duty in the courts. The police expenses are increased $48,000 over the prohibition years, while new stations and new patrol wagons are in demand. A police officer is arrested for drunkenness; a little girl, six years old, is brought to the station drunk; a newsboy is arrested in a state of wild, drunken fury; women and children drunk, are held to sober up; drunken men are dragged through our highways; crime is rampant, murders have grown common; a policeman is lying tonight, at the point of death, from the knives of drunken weetches; juries hung in effigy; courts doing double duty!

"What do we get for all this? An increase of forty-five cents per capita in police expenses alone! We get seventy-five cents per capita from the saloons 'to reduce our taxes!'

"What do we get for all this? An increase of forty-five cents per capita in police expenses alone! We get seventy-five cents per capita from the saloons 'to reduce our taxes!' We get a gang of one hundred saloon-keepers, 'good, moral men,' whom the prince of the pit would not let into pandemonium all in a bunch. We get the shame of a record for debaucheries and crimes that is not paralleled by any other city of like size in America.

and crimes that is not paralleled by any other city of like size in America.

"Where shall we look for relief? The ministry of our churches is strangely silent. I have listened to hear them denounce this carnival of blood and crime, this debauchery of babes and murder of manhood. The press is altogether on the side of the saloon system. They will do nothing for prohibition. They would rather rake the pit for arguments against it. Our officials are nearly all running for mayor, governor, or some otheroffice, and are dancing attendance upon the saloon bosses. Who then, shall deliver us? Only the people—the common people, ourselves—can do the work. then, shall deliver us? Only the people—the common people, ourselves—can do the work. We must combine, strike hands, join hearts, faith and prayer, and fight the good fight to the finish. That is our purpose here. Tonight we set the agitation in motion, much as the mayor may deplore it in his message and the Mammon-worshipers may whine about it. We are going to have this fight, or die in the last ditch of effort. No use to cry out to us that we will "hurt business." Let anything be hurtrather than our brothers and our boys.

Mr. Small speaks again at the Marietta Street mission rooms tonight before the Fifth Ward 1890 club.

Marian Harland on Soup-Making.

Marian Harland on Soup-Making.

In the course of my explorations, I was directed by a friend who had tested their products, to the building occupied by the Franco-American Food company, New York.

What I saw and learned of real soup-making—honest, clean and appetizing—I propose, still in the interest of American housewives, to relate as frankly as I would expose the iniquities of conventioual "canning," did diaphragm and taste allow me to undertake the task.

Beginning with the raw material, I, an unexpected visitor, found in the larder huge shins of beef; chickens, dressed and whole, fair, plump and free from the suspicion of taint; calves' heads, white and firm; nutton and veal in prime order; barrels of healthy vegetables; parsely, celery and other soup herbs; all the appliances needful for the manufacture of divers kinds of soup in a private family, but on a gigantic scale.

This is the opinion of Marian Harland on a small scale, embodied in a book on soup-making, which we will present free to any one who will ask for one at our store.

We have all kinds, such as Green Turtle, Terrapin, Mock Turtle, Ox Tail, Melligatawney, Consomme, Julienne Chicken, Vegetable, Puntanier, Beef-Mutton Broth, Tomato, Pea and French Boullon, all of which are delightful, and should be tried to be appreciated.

Do you want some first-class, dark Buckwheat and pure Maple Syrup for breakfast? If so, we can supply you.

Then if you have a bad cold and want some pure Honey, which is good for all pulmonic affections, we have that also. If you want the best Jersey Butter in Atlanta, we have it. Remember this, because we know good butter is hard to find. We have just received fresh involces of Pincapple Cheese, Edam and Meufchatel. Also small Dove Ham, from six to ten pounds, B. Bacon in small pieces, two to four pound, Try Split Pea Soup, or Lentils, they are nice. Our fancy New York Oneida Community Cheese has arrived. Strawberries, fresh every day, during this week.

ASH WEDNESDAY.

AFTER THE PRIVOLITIES OF THE HOLIDAYS COMES REPENTANCE.

Today is Ash Wednesday.
It is the beginning of Lent, and the season of festivities is over.
The season of Lent is a righteous check on the thoughtlessness and giddy gaiety that characterize life in the city, and its observance is a topalians and Lutherane as a marked feast in the calendar, and by other denominations in a tasual way. It is to many a season of rest and mental recreation, that is productive of much good. Balls, parties, receptions and weddings are off, and the society columns will be enlivened with very few accounts of the brilliant scenes that have monopolized all the adjectives during the past months.

Bishop Becker, of the Catholic diocese, of Savannah, of which the parish of Atlanta torms a part, has issued the following circular: Rev. and Dear Sir: By the command of the third plenary council of Paltimore, a collection is to be taken up in all the churches on the first Sun-day of Lent, for the missions among the Indians and colored people.

We request all of our clergy to remind their flocks to give liberally for this good work, and to lorward the amount to our vicar-general in Sa-vannah. They should also read the general regulations for the observance of the Lenten period on each Sunday during Lent.

The following are the laws for Lent in the dio Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, falls on the 19th of February.

I. All the faithful who have completed their twenty-first year are, unless legitimately dispensed, bound to observe the fast of Lent.

2. They are to make only one meal a day, except-ng Sundays.

3. The meal allowed on fast days is not to be taken until about noon.

4. Flesh meat and fish are not to be used at the

5. A small refreshment, commonly called collation, is allowed in the evening, not to exceed the fourth part of an ordinary meal.

fourth part of an ordinary meal.

6. At the collation it is permitted to use bread, all kinds of fruits, salads and vegetables. The use of butter, cheese, milk and eggs is also tolerated by virtue of long established custon.

7. General usage has made it lawful to take in the morning, some warm liquid, as tea, coffee, or thin chocolate made with water, and a mouthful of bread.

of bread.

8. Necessity and eustom have authorized the use of hog's lard instead of butter, in preparing permitted food.

9. The following persons are exempted from the obligation of fasting: Persons under twenty-one years of age, the sick, nursing women, those whe are obliged to do hard labor, all who through weakness cannot fast without great prejudice to their health.

10. By virtue of an indult granted to the bishops of these provinces, under date August 3rd, 1887, the use of flesh meat will be allowed at all meals on Sundays, and once a day on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, with the exception of the second and last Saturdays of Lent.
11. Persons dispensed from the obligation of fasting, on account of tender or advanced age, bard labor, or ill health, are free to take meat more than once on those days when its use is granted by dispensation.

12. The faithful are reminded that besides the obligation of fasting imposed by the church, this

12. The fathful are reminded that besides the obligation of fasting imposed by the church, this holy season of Lent should be in an especial manner a time of carnest prayer, of sorrow for sin, of seclusion from the world and its amusements, and of generous aimsgiving.

13. The Paschal time extends from the first Sunday of Lent till Trinity Suuday, during which time all Catholies who have attained the use of reason are bound to prepare themselves to receive worthily holy communion. The season of Lent is a proper time, also, for children to go to their first confession, which they ought to do generally when they are about seven years of age. Parents and teachers should see to this.

Thomas A. Becker,
Bishop of Savannah.

In his instructions last Sunday Bishop Beck

Bishop of Savannah.

In his instructions last Sunday Bishop Beck. er took occasion to call the attentention of the faithful to the eating of turkeys stuffed with cysters, a meal of that sort not being allowable under the rules of the church.

The Catholic services will be on Ash Wednesday, today, distribution of the ashes from 7 to 8:30 o'clock a. m.

On Wednesday and Friday during Lent there will be services of instruction at 7, and Fridays the wearing of the cross. The masses occur as ordinarily, at the Wednesday service. These services will be truly interesting and will be religiously observed by members of the

At St. Luke's Cathedral, Rev. Dr. R. S. Barrett will conduct two daily services, morning and evening, that will prove of more than usual interest.

The morning service, at 5 o'clock a. m., will consist of expositions on the holy scripture, that will be most edifying to all those who at-

The Directory for 1890.

The city directory for 1801 so and it is the handsomest book yet published in Atlanta. The introduction is a chapter of Atlanta's progress. "Four years ago," it says, "471 pages sufficed to chronicle the inhabitants of Atlanta. This year chronicle the inhabitants of Atlanta. This year 1.309 geges barely compasses it. The inference is so obvious that comment is unnecessary. The directory contains 27,400 names, and the census made by us during the progress of the work shows the present population, including the suburbs, to be 51,993 whitrs, and 33,746 colored, a total of 88,939, and an increase of 14,063 during the year 1889. This is no merc guess; netther is it an 'estimate.' It is an actual bona fide count."

Mr. Saunders is now delivering the book, and ays he never found collections so easy.
The book was printed in THE CONSTITUTION job office.

More mules and horses have been purchased by Georgians this season than for inany years past, and the cash and notes given for them run far up into the millions. This, with the vastly increased purchases of commercial fertilizers, will about dispose of the surplus from last year's crop; and, next fall, when the notes given for these cammodities become due, you will hear a wail of distress throughout the land. It seems impossible for our people to realize that compost heaps are cheap, and that mules and horses can be raised in Georgia.

LAMP CHIMNEYS.

Two kinds of lamp-chimneys: one breaks; the other does not. Which do you think your grocer or glassman would rather sell?

If you buy the breaker, you're buying all the time. If you buy the not-breaker, he may not live to sell you another. You know him-which do you think he'd rather you'd buy?

The one that doesn't break is called the "pearl-top" and looks like this the top of it; made by Macbeth & Co., Pittsburgh.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, DALLAS COUNTY.—I, Pleasant G. Wood, judge of the protate court in and for said county, which is a court of record, and of which court I am also clerk, do hereby certify, that James F. Milhous, whose name is signed to the foregoing affidavit hereto attached, was clerk of the circuit court in and for said county, in said state, at the date of said affidavit; and that his official bond and official oath as such officer are on file in my office, as judge of said probate court; and that, in my opinion, his name signed to the said affidavit is his own genuine handwriting; and that under the laws of said state, he is authorized to administer oaths and take affidavits, and to take acknowledgement or probate of all deeds of conveyances required to be recorded, and certify the same for registration. Given nader my hand and the seal of the said probate court, at my office, in the city of Selma, in said state and county, on this the 25th day of January, 1800.

CAPITOL NOTES.

A DAY'S GRIST IN THE DIFFERENT DEPARTMENTS.

The Wayne County Judgeship Race—A New Solicitor—Some Facts of Interest About the Schools-Other Routine Work,

Yesterday was a busy day at the capitol. In all the departments a great deal of work was done and one result is a good supply of

A New Solicitor

Governor Gordon appointed Mr. Seaborn H.
Jones as solicitor of the county court of Burke county. Mr. Jones's appointment will take effect on the 11th of March, and his term of office will expire in two years, that being the full time for which the governor is allowed to appoint a court solicitor.

Mr. Jones is the son of Judge J. J. Jones, generally known as Judge "Jinks" Jones. He is an exceedingly popular young man in his county, and his appointment was requested by most of Burke county's leading citizens.

To be Sold on the 27th.

An inventory of all the furniture which was taken from the old capitol was made yesterday in preparation for the auction sale which will take place on the 27th of January. It has been decided that two sales will be necessary; one including the desks, chairs and other movable articles will be held in front of the new capitol; the safes and other state property which would be difficult to move, will be sold at the old building.

The Iudian Springs Lease. The sale of the twenty-five years lease of the Indian Springs reservation will take place on the first Tuesday in March. Although several hotel keepers are contemp.ating the pur chase of the lease, with a view of re-establishing the springs as a health resort, they are all holding back, hoping to secure the lease at a nominal figure. No offer has, therefore, been made for the property.

The Wayne Judgeship. The governor received several telegrams from Wayne county yesterday requesting him to delay any action in appointing any successor to Judge Fort until the real choice of the people could be ascertained to him. Another application for the place was added yesterday morning to the two already received, and the candidates now are, John Massey, J. J. Bell and B L. Littlefield. In compliance with the request he has received, Governor Gordon will make no selection until he is assured that his choice will meet the approval of the majority of the citizens of Wayne county.

Fearful of a Lynching.

Polk Newton, the murderer, has been taken to the Dade county coal mines, where he will serve out his life sentence. Colonel Shubrick says that the commutation was granted last Saturday, but he was obliged to keep the mat-ter a profound secret until Newton had been safely landed in the Atlanta jail, or he would certainly have been lynched by the citizens of the county, who have been counting for months on seeing him hanged.

The Female Convicts. The Female Convicts.

Colonel Shubrick has returned from a visit to the newly organized female prison camp, near Bolton. He says that the moral atmosphere of the penitentiary will be greatly improved by the separation of the sexes. There are now at the Bolton camp twenty female prisoners. Colonel Shubrick says they are rapidly learning to make brooms, and they seem greatly pleased by the change. The only white woman who is now in the penitentiary will be allowed to remain where she is.

Facts About the Schools.

Facts About the Schools.

The following extract from a letter received by State School Commissioner Hook, from Hoo. A. J. Glover, county school commissioner of Twiggs county, is an indication of the manner in which the recent wise increase in the school fund, by the last legislature, is operating, of the good it is already doing, and of its appreciation by the public:

"The increase of one month in the public term has evidently created a greater interest in the education of the children of my county. The schools of 1890 surpass those of any previous year. We have more schools, better teachers, and there are more children now attending the public schools than was ever-known I don't suppose you can tell yet what the amount of your order for 1890 on tax collector of Twiggs county will be, but please approximate it, which will enable me to give teachers the desired information."

Judge Hook states, in connection with the bove, that the order of the state school above, that the order of the state school commissioner on the tax collector of each county in favor of the county school commiscounty in favor of the county school commissioner, will be, in round numbers, thirty per cent larger this year than in 1889. Thus, the draft for 1889 for Twiggs county was $2,508.36; for 1890 it will approximate $3,260.87. This estimate will come within one per cent of the estimate will come within one per cent of the actual sum.

Three months constituted the term for 1889 in nearly every county of the state. This year almost without exception a four months term has been inaugurated, and with a very small additional appropriation from the legislature next fall, it is possible that a five months term for 1891 may be established. An Escaped Convict.

An Escaped Convict.

The penitentiary department was informed yesterday of the escape of Wilson Evans, a colored man, who was serving a four years sentence at the Chattahoochee Brick yard for larceny committed in Fulton county. The report stated that Evans feigned sickness for several days and obtained permission to remain in the building syesterday morning, the opportunity he was waiting for occurred and he quietly took his departure without being observed. A reward will be offered for his apprehension and return to the penitentiary.

THE PIEDMONT DIRECTORS. ▲ Special Meeting Called for Tonight to Take Important Action.

A special meeting of the board of directors of the Piedmont Exposition company has been called for this evening. It is understood by the directors that the meeting will be held in order to consider some changes in the management which for a time seemed inevitable. Owing to a resolution which was introduced at the last meeting by Mr. Jack Spalding, President Wylie and, Mr. C. A. Collier, both handed in their resignations. President Wylie, upon the request of the directors, was induced to withdraw his resignation and delay action until after the meeting tonight. Mr. Collier, however, has allowed his to remain, and, unless something unforseen occurs, there will be a vacancy on the board of directors which will have to be filled.

Boils and Carbuncies

It seems strange that any one will suffer with boils, carbuncies, etc., when Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla will certainly prevent all such eruptive tendencies. It is a sure and safe antidote for blood poison arising from whatever source, and its use when needed should not be unnecessarily delayed. Thousands who found extensively advertised blood medicines to have no efficacy whatever, are rejoicing in the fact that Bull's Sarsaparilla is an exception, and that good health invariably follows its use. Syphilitic and scrofulous symptoms disappear, the skin becomes clear and free from pimples, the digestion is imptoved, aches and pains ccase, the weight of the blood becomes greater, the flesh more solid, ulcerative and consumptive tendencies disappear, the power of endurance is increased, weakness, dizzy spells and unnatural fatigue vanish, in a word the user of Bull's Sarsaparilla becomes a picture of good health and strength. Try it. Use no other.—Dayton Enquirer. Boils and Carbuncles

May Be Saved if You Will Think of Yourself a Moment and Then Act.

Ulceration of the bowels, usually called "itching piles," is a very common affliction, and not causing much pain is usually considered of small importance, and the disease is allowed to develop into a very grave affliction. The symptoms of this trouble are moisture and itching around the anus, pain across the hips (low down), diarrhea, and irregular bowels, pain in lower part of same, indigestion, and a long train of nervous symptoms, differing in nearly every case); and in the female, who are more liable to be affected than the male, many symptoms usually attributed to female diseases. This disease is a very fruitful cause of many diseases refusing to yield to the treatment of your physician, and places you on the list of "incurables." The results of neglecting this affliction are terrible to contemplate, a general impairment of health, frequently so slow as to be scarcely noticeable, derangement of the nervous system, unfitting you for business or enjoyment of pleasure, the development of cancer and stricture of bowels, or loss of power of controlling same when happily death intervenes and relieves the sufferer of histortures. This is a terrible picture, but a true one. You may by neglect make this your own; can you take the risk when a cure is offered you? Treating rectal discasses exclusively for a number of years, I am able to offer you a cure without the usual pain attending the treatment employed by one who has not the experience in treating these diseases. The mode of treatment I employ for their cure is mild and is not unpleasant in anyway, as I use neither knife or caustic applications. I have cured many, and I am willing that they should tell you of my success if you wish it. I can furnish you their names if you prefer it. On my past success I am willing to stand or fall. Can I offer you anything fairer? If you wish to investigate what I have said, I extend to you an invitation to consult me, (free of cost,) and I will prove all I hav a Moment and Then Act.

Are you subject to Headaches? Bradycro-tine will certainly prevent them.

Increased Fifteen Thousand Fold.

The Express but recently published the fact that Mr. Z. P. Cole, a poor man who resides at Pearsall, was the lucky winner of fifteen thousand dollars in The Louisiana State Lottery, having purchased ticket No. 98,455, which drew one-fortieth of the grand capital prize of $600,000 in the December drawing. Mr. Cole sent his ticket to New Orleans by express, where it was cashed in full and the money returned to him in a remarkably short time, thus demonstrating the fact that the Louisiana State Lottery Company is as reliable as ever, and never makes a promise that is not carried out to the letter.—San Antonio (Tex.) NEGRO EMIGRATION.

CARROLLED LIKE MULES IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Engaged by the Planters-Signed, Sealed and Delivered-A Farm Eleven Miles Across-Political Effect.

"Peg-Leg Williams has an order for a thou-

That is the way they talk about negro emi-gration on Wall street. Mr. Williams, the enterprising ticket agent, who is known among his fellows as "Peg-leg," is the king bee in the business, and it is said at his office that he forwarded 25,000 negro emigrants to Arkansas and Texas this winter.

John, the mulatto hustler who is employed by Mr. Williams, gives a spirited account of by Mr. Williams, gives a spirited account of the business.

"How do you get them up?" he was asked. "You just have to hustle around and get them. The people in North Carolina made poor cops last year, and they had nothing. The land owners could not hire all of them and when they did hise them it was at very small wages. The people just made a resolution to come to Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana. The farmers sent orders here for so many families, and we filled them. The negroes agreed to work long enough to pay their transportation, and the farmers agreed to furnish land, stock, houses, seed, everything, and give them half they make. They can make a bale, a bale and a half, and sometimes two bales, on that black land. Some families paid their transportation and had from $150 to $200 clear at the end of the first year. That's a black man's paradise. They can buy land in the Mississippi delta country for five and six dollars an acre, and in Arkansas they can buy very good land for two or three dollars.

"You haven't got any cotton here, Why, sometimes they plow under as much loose cotton that drops off the lower part of the plant as you make here on your crop. Colored people make lots of money down there, and they get wasteful. They throw away enough to make them rich. They travel on the railroads so much that the trains are crowded with them every day. They earn in ditching as much as a dollar and a half a day and farm labor gets a dollar and a dollar and a quarter a day.

"The land in Mississippi is held by big labor gets a dollar and a dollar and a quarter a day.

"The land in Mississippi is held by big planters. They don't think much of a man unless he has 500 acres. Plantations go up into the thousands. Mr. Richardson's plantation is eleven miles across and a railroad runs through it just to do the business of the plantation. They say it's the biggest plantation in the world. Every three miles he has a nice church and school house, with a village around them. The houses are all white, painted and whitewashed, and everything is as pretty as can be. It's a beautiful country and it isn't any trouble for a man to make a living there if he'll work. If a planter has plenty of land and can get labor he's sure to get rich.

"There is a very good feeling between the white and colored people down there. I used to hear of a good deal of trouble down there, but if there was any of that then it's not so now. They need labor so bad that they treat the people well to keep them there."

A railroad man, who was in the same line of business, said that the negroes were corralled like mules in North Carolina agents and went among them and picked out so many families like so many mules. At one time, he says, there were three thousand in Goldsboro, N. C., waiting for transportation.

At first the North Carolina farmers were glad to have the negroes go, and the governor said let them go, but as the contracting season came on the emigrant agents interfered a good deal with farmers' arrangements and made came on the emigrant agents intertered a good deal with farmers' arrangements and made negroes dissatisfied after they had contracted for the coming year.

The result is that it has become too warm for emigrant agents in South Carolina and some parts of North Carolina.

Some of them have been shot at and others have been run into the swants. One of them

Some of them have been shot at and others have been run into the swamps. One of them said yesterday:

"I was captured by a crowd once and they were taking me to a store. What they were going to do with me I don't know. I went along all right, and by and by they got to talking. When they got interested, I darted into the bushes. They shot at me and I fell over a log. They thought I was dead and went on, but I lay still till they were out of the way, and then hid in the swamp till next morning."

What effect will this have on Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas politics? The number of negroes carried to those states in the last three years is estimated all the way from 20,000 to 80,000. There must have been 40,000 or 50,000. These people probably represent 20,000 voters. That number divided among three states does not amount to much, but a few more years might turn Louisiana and Arkansas into the republican column.

A GRAYHEADED PRISONER.

Daniel McMullen, the Blind Phrenologist, in the Stationhouse.

Yesterday afternoon the police found a gray-headed man wandering about the streets in an apparently helpless condition. He was arrested and locked up on a charge of drunkenness.

In his cell he said:
"I am Daniel McMullen, the 'Blind Phrenologist,' and I have traveled all ever the world and never suffered an indignity like this."

"Can you feel a fellow's bumps?""

"I board at three different houses, and —"
"How long have you been in Atlanta?"
"About a week. I came here from Mobile.
I am seventy-five years old, and have been all over the world —"
"Where have you been?"

"Are you a native of Mobile?"
"Yes, I am; and my mother was an Irish-woman. I have no relatives in this country."
"Can you feel of my head?"
"If I had my stick I could." I haven't got any confidence in anybody. A man came in here this evening and promised to bring me a supper of ham and eggs, and he sidn't do it. I don't believe in any of you—"

Inherited Blood Poison

Inherited Blood Poison.

How many people there are whose distress from sores, aches, pains and eruptive tendencies are due to inherited blood poison. Bad blood passes from parent to child, and it therefore is the duty of husband and wife to keep their blood pure. This is easily accomplished by a timely use of B.B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm). Send to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, for book of most convincing proof.

James Hill, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "My two sons were afflicted with blood poison, which doctors said was hereditary. They both broke out an sores and eruptions which B. B. B. promptly centrolled and finally cured completely."

Mrs. S. M. Williams, Sandy, Texas, writes: "My three poor afflicted children, who inherited blood poison, have improved rapidly after a use of B. B. B. It is a Godsend."

J. R. Wilson, Glen Alpine Station, N. C., February 13, 1885, writes: "Bone and blood poison forced me to have my leg amputated, and on the stump there came a large ulcer, which grow worse every day until doctors gave me up to die. I only weighed 120 nounds when I becam to take B. B. B.

every day until doctors gave me up to die. I only weighed 120 pounds when I began to take B. B. B., and twelve bottles increased my weight to 130 pounds and made me sound and well. I never knew what good health was before."

A TICHBORNE GHOST.

IT ARISES FROM AN ISLAND IN THE SOUTH SEA.

William Edwards Relates the Story Of the Death and Burial of the Real Sir Roger A. Tichborne.

NEW YORK, February 18 .- A bronzed and weather-beaten sailor entered the World office this afternoon and announced that he had a yarn to spin. This yarn, if true, effectually settles all claims to the Tichborne estate in England, over which there has been so much controversy. The old sailor said he was William Edwards, and that he had sailed the seas, man and boy, for forty years and more. In the '50's, so goes his yarn, he found himself on one of the South sea islands, from which he shipped on the Bella Ruffin, bound from William Edwards, and that he had sailed the Tahiti with a cargo for Beach La Marr.

A BOATLOAD OF DEAD MEN.

Two days out they picked up a boat containing six men who were apparently dead. One of them, however, revived. He was a handsome young fellow, and was apparently a gentleman. He gave his name as Roger Tichborne, and when, years after, Edwards heard the story he knew this was the real Sir Roger. Finally the Bella Ruffin sighted Marr island, and Edwards and a sailor were sent ashore while the vessel returned for laborers. The young man was very weak, and he also went ashore, hoping the change would brace him up. The sailor finished his yarn in his own words:

THE STORY OF TICHBORNE'S DEATH. "The Bella Ruffin never cum back, an' nary an eye have I ciapped on her from that to this. The first day on the island, Tichborne was took with a spell, an' grew worse; so we built a hut of coceanut leaves and put him in it, and took care of him ez fine ez we kud. Meantime Tichborne got sieker: I was very much intimated wid 'im, an' a finer gentleman ther' never wuz. He told me that ef we could only git to China there wuz plenty o' money waiting for him at Jardine & Waddington's, bankers, in Hong Kong. Then he used to talk about his mother an' about his people that lived in Hampshire, Eng., which place he said was lively- He had had a great many misfortunes, he said, but some day the storm would blow over, but he didu't live to see it, for he died eighteen days after we landed, leavin' me a ring an' a cross with a precious stone in to take to his people. THEY BURIED HIM IN THE SAND.

"Tommy and me buried him-as honorable as we kud, an' he's a-layin' in the sand there to-day. We lived along on cocoanuts an' fish an' eggs, nover thinkin' to leave the mis'able place, but all the time plannin' foolish ways o' eggs, never thinking to leave the missioned place, but all the time planning foolish ways of getting off. I came near a staying anyhow. One day I was hunting among the rocks for oysters when a cuttle-fish grabbed me, and if I hadn't known the tricks of the beast it would a bin the end of William Edwards, but I capsized his bonnet and that ended him. His bonnet is the little cap over his eyes, and when you knock it back he's paralyzed an' done for. At last down comes a Honolulu cutter and takes us off, and we went without much grieving. I can tell you. I lost the jewels, but I didn't forget young Tichberue; so when I was in Liverpool, five years ago, and when they pointed out a big fat man an' told me he wuz Sir Roger, I told 'em they lied. "Are you Sir Roger Tichborne?" ses I, makin' bold to step up to him. 'I am, sir,' ses he, 'and who the devil are you?' 'If you're Sir Roger,' ses I, 'dash me i#I ain't Lord Beaconsfield.' Then he shoved me by, an' I ain't seen him since, neither."

Edwards has just returned from the diamond fields of south Africa.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

L. F. Hinson, of Montgomery county, is one of the most successful farmers in Georgia. He has killed and saved the past season about 9,000 pounds of meat, 900 hundred pounds of fine land. he raises thousands of corn and fodder, peas and potatoes, and has cane enough this year to make 100 barrels of syrup.

Albany is abounding in new English peas and Irish potatoes. Mr. George W. Henderson, superintendent of the Thomasville oil mill, has an incubator that is, to say the least of it, a great improvement on the old way of supplying the world with chickens, says the Thomasville Times. As cross as a setting hen will pass into innocuous desuctude, or a proverb, if the modern incubator comes into general use. Mr. Henderson had a hatching coming off yesterday and in a few days he will have several hundred biddies thrown or his care. Science has provided for the care of the little fellows from the time they leave the egg till they are large enough to adorn a frying pan or broling spit. They are kept warm by a machine made for the purpose, and as they are supplied with plenty of food, a very quick growth is assured. Mr. Henderson expects to have spring chickens on the market in a few weeks. E. W. Wells, of Carroll county, is putting a por-tion of his farm in grass, and will devote some of his attention to stock raising. It is believed that the farmers of Carroll county have killed enough meat this year to carry them through the summer months. Mrs. L. D. Hutchins, of Harris county, comes to the front with two pet pigs weighing 484 and 458 pounds net. This shows that some women are pretty good farmers.

At a meeting of the county alliance on Thurs-day last it was resolved that the Farmers' Alliance of Talbot should build a warehouse in Talbotton. The hat was passed around and $1,250 was raised for the warehouse fund.

Nearly every farmer in Houston county favors the holding of a Houston county fair next fall. A determined effort will secure a successful fair S. H. Morgan, of Washington county, is raising eleven pound turnips, and plenty of them of that weight.

The Sylvania Telephone is advocating the planting of black seed or long staple cotton, in Screven county, and the editor of that paper will club the Telephone with one bushel of the seed at $1.75.

Telephone with one bushel of the seed at $1.75. In a community where roads are well kept, says the Marietta Journal, you will find a thriving people. That good roads add very much to the value of real estate around them, is not only a well-known fact in the experiences of any one who has ever been on the search for a farm or dwelling place, but they have for ages been considered as the chief test of the state of civilization in the experience of any one who have experience of the state of civilization in the experience of the state of civilization in the experience of the state of the state of the state of civilization in the experience of the state of the sta nunity in which people and nations have ex-

The average hog will thrive better after the warm weather sets in. It will then have more time, as it won't have to sleep away from home to save its life.

Bave its life.

Mr. William Frey is one of the most progressive and successful farmers in Cobb county. When the war ended he had nothing, but he came home and went to work and has accumulated a handsome fortune. He made it out of the soil of Cobb county at that. On last Tuesday he sold fifty-four bales of cotton to Messrs. B. R. Legg & Bro., of Marietta, at 109-16 cents per pound. Few farmers in any county can hold their cotton so long but it has paid Mr. Frey to do so, as the advance in price shows.

Major Hood says that over 400 acres of land for melons have already been located on the line of the Columbus Southern, and the quantity will probably be doubled if the needed transportation facilities are afforded.

The Macon county alliancemen are in earnest about the co-operative store, and the popular belief seems to be that it will be located at Ogle-

That tired feeling, which is so depressing and often so unaccountable in the spring, is entirely overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great spring medicine, which gives strength and vigor.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, February 18.—The stock market today was less active than yesterday, but, contrary to the general rule, was stronger, and some material gains were scored during the day. The im on entertained by the bears that a reduction of rates west of the Missouri river would demor-alize the whole market has proved to be a mistaken one, and the first attempt today to cover any outstanding shorts resulted in the recovery noted, although the roads did vote to put into force a tariff 20 per cent less than the existing rates. The information that this reduction would only affect a portion of the westbound business did much to nullify the influence of the reduction and the event was only another proof that there is no disposition among the holders of stocks to part with them at ruling figures. The recent raids on the list have brought in more buyers than sellers, and as the floating supply of stocks grows smaller and smaller and short interest larger, attempts to cover are sure to bring about a higher range of values. There was considerable buying by the trading element for a turn on the long side, and the Chicago party were reported as endeavoring to shake out some of their too numerous following up on the short side. There was undoubted the confidence of the confidence edly considerable covering of shorts by the smaller operators. Rock Island, Missouri Pacific and coalers occupied the first place in the market today, and the improvement in the first named was steady though slow, after transactions of the first few minutes, when there was quite an excitement in stock, sales at 801/2@90 being made at the same

Later in the day the coalers became prominent Later in the day the coalers became prominent, and were helped by reports of the Jersey Central and Lehigh valley for 1889, the former promising increased dividends as the business warrants. A few of the specialties, such as Colorado Coal, Chicago, St. Louis and Pittsburg preferred, made sharp advances, and Wisconsin Central, for the first time in a long while, shows an improvement for the day. Sugar was again the most prominent for the day. Sugar was again the most prominent feature in the market, and the announcement in the morning papers that a refinery at San Francisco belonging to the trust had been placed in the hands of a receiver to wind up its affairs, created a more bearing feeling on the trust, and certificates on large business and with great fe-verishness scored a final loss of 1½ per cent. There was a better tone toward the close on the contradiction of a portion of the story, but it closed west prices.

The general list closed quiet but firm at or near the best prices. Sales of listed aggregated 152,000, and unlisted 69,000 shares. Exchange quiet and steady at $483\frac{1}{2}$ @ $487\frac{1}{2}$. Money easy at $3\frac{1}{2}$ @4.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, February 18—[Special]—Inanition is the word which most aptly describes the cause of the decline in the cotton market, owing more to the lack of buyers than to any disposition to sell. The Liverson market opened this morning at a loss of 2-64d, lost a further 1-64d and closed didler at about opening prices. Spot sales only 7,000 bales. The New York market followed about the same course described by Liverpool, opening the same course described by Liverpool, opening at about 5 points decline, selling down some 3 points more and recovering slightly upon the receipt of telegrams from New Orleans indicating the probability of light receipts there tomorrow. This, however, is always usual on Ash Wednesday, as all the boats are timed to arrive there today in time for the mardi gras festivities. Reports are current to 'the effect that the weakness in Liverpool has been somewhat increased by the fear that the cotton spinning operatives would quit work in sympathy with the coal miners, among whom a strike seems to be imminent in Great Britain; but such reports as yet lack confirmmation. The movement at the four interior towns of Memphis, Augusta, St. Louis and Cincinnati thus far this week is somewhat heavier than was anticipated, and foreshadows a total of at least 23,000 bales at all the towns for the week.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, February 18—Wheat—Less doing, and a more quiet feeling existed in this market.

Fewer outside orders and also less disposition on the part of local operators to trade. While trading was restricted in character, it was there was noticeably less disposition to force lower prices at the risk of putting out fresh lines of short wheat. At the same time, when higher prices were reached. there was enough wheat placed on sale to prevent a further advance, but at the closing denoted a rather strong feeling. The opening was about ½c lower than yesterday, advanced ½@¾c, reacted ¾ @¾c, advanced %c and closed a shade better than yesterday.

Corn was traded in to a fair extent, the market at times being quite active. The prevailing feeling early in the day was easy, but later a better tone was manifested. The market early sympathized with wheat some, and later the smaller estimated arrivals for tomorrow had a strengthening tendency. May and July were favorite months.
